I did not anticipate needing to put together this document. I had hopes that this was something that could be kept out of the public eye and handled privately. The true nature of the situation made that seem impossible but until recently, that was still an option on the table, however unlikely it may have been. But circumstances have changed, Elfinpsyop's public statement effectively amounted to slander, so, this has shifted from being a preemptive warning intended to be released in tandem with my exit, to a response, you can take it as you will, and I will be done with all of this regardless.

Let me be clear, I like this community, I like what has been built up over the last year, it was genuinely enjoyable. As such, it would be an injustice to you all if this were not brought to public attention. Some of you are friends, some peers and some of you are people that I outright despise, but you are all fans or viewers of Elfinpsyop—like I have been—and therefore all of you deserve to know of how malicious she can be.

Initially, this document sought to provide evidence of how Elfinpsyop manipulated her fans and the people around her for her own sexual gratification and after the fact accused them of manipulating her, excommunicating them and ruining their reputations in private circles. Like I said, it was meant to be a warning, a warning to her close fans, "veteran agents," so that they did not find themselves in the same situation many other men had. After her accusations towards me, I have shifted gears.

This document outlines a clear timeline of events starting from March 15th, 2024, when I watched my first stream. It will provide proof of the topics being spoken of and only mention usernames that are pertinent to the issue at hand. It will attempt to both exonerate me and prevent fans from being the object of Elfinpsyop's impulses.

This outline will not contain any sort of doxing information. No photos, no real names, no addresses or locations. That is not the intended purpose. I do not intend to tell you how to feel, or what you should do. Despite everything that has happened and how it may seem, I am not intentionally trying to sabotage Elfinpsyop's career. However, this document will be from my perspective. That is unavoidable.

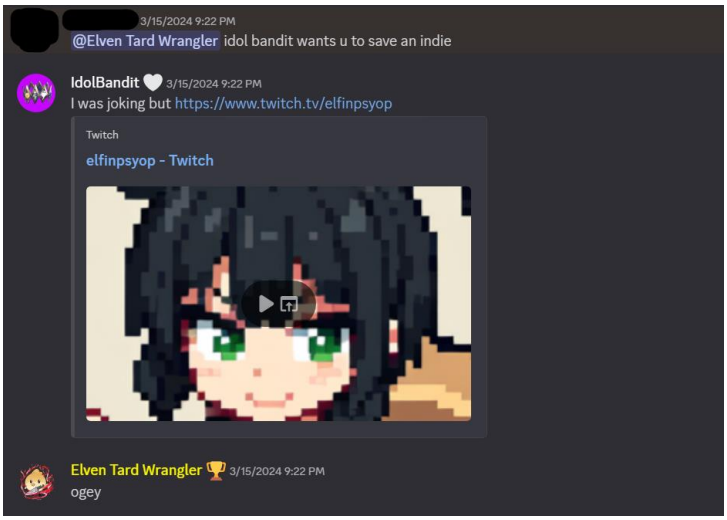
To the point, Elfinpsyop over the course of the last year has been coming on to members of her audience, sending them explicit pictures of herself as well as engaging in flirtatious messaging and sexting. In these relationships, she has manipulated men against each other and lied to several people close to her to paint herself in a positive light. She dropped these men after she was done with them and then accused them of taking advantage of her to avoid admitting that she was in a consensual sexual relationship, so as not to sabotage her streaming career. There are 6 confirmed instances, however, the full list could be significantly larger. Those 6 include myself (AvgBirdEnjoyer), Merrick, Shovelbreath, Lauchlan, Captcha, and Sako.

Chapter 1: Meeting & Merrick

Here, I will describe my relationship with Elfinpsyop to exonerate myself from Elfin's accusations of me attempting to groom her as well as describe the first instance of Elfin's pattern of behaviors I mentioned within the introduction.

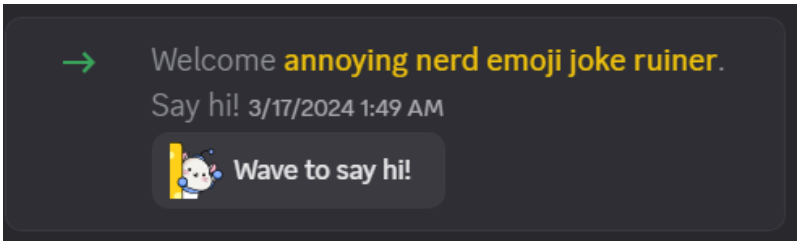
March 15th, 2024

Idolbandit asked me to jokingly "save" a vtuber, Elfinpsyop.



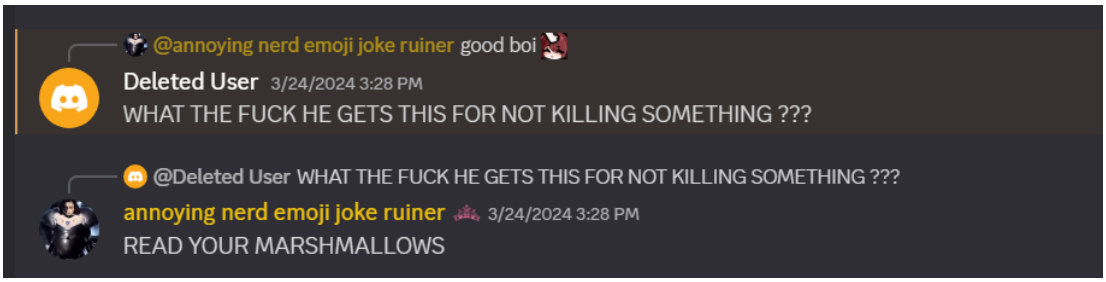
March 17th, 2024

The server was created on March 16th, I joined the next day.

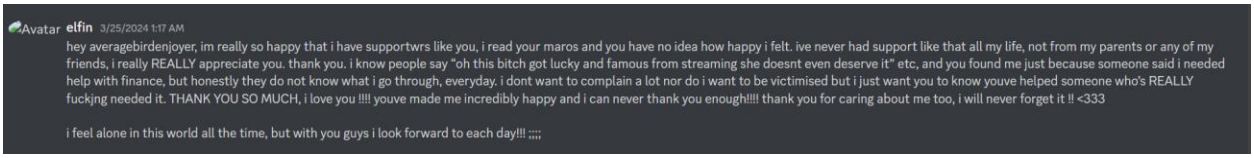


March 25th, 2024

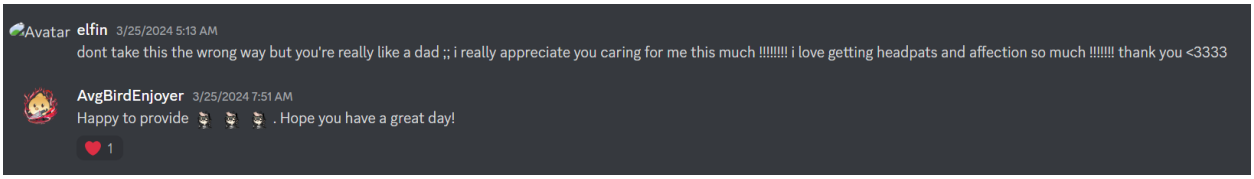
Inbetween my joining and the 25th, Elfin had made a Marshmallow for people to anonymously message. I sent 2 generally supportive messages by then, but she had not checked her inbox despite other people reminding her to do so, until this interaction:



After reading them she would later send me a DM expressing her appreciation:



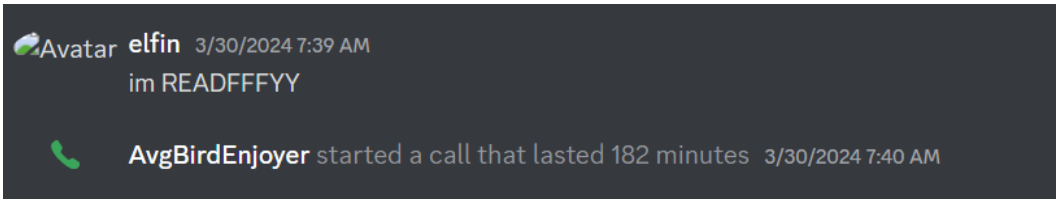
After my response, she would also go on to say the following:



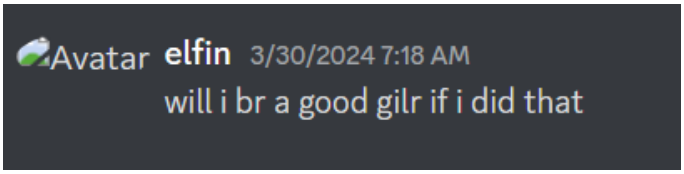
As you can see, the intial interactions were relatively wholesome.

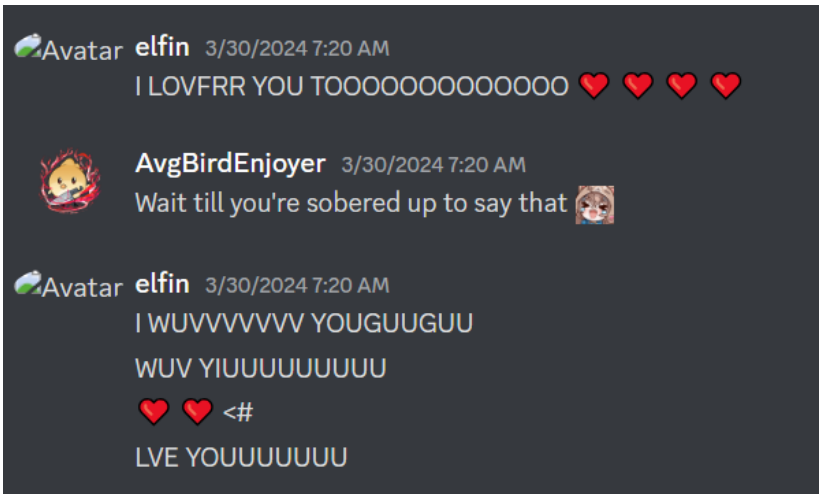
March 30th, 2024

This would be the first time we called in DMs, it was me trying to get her to order some food while she was drunk:

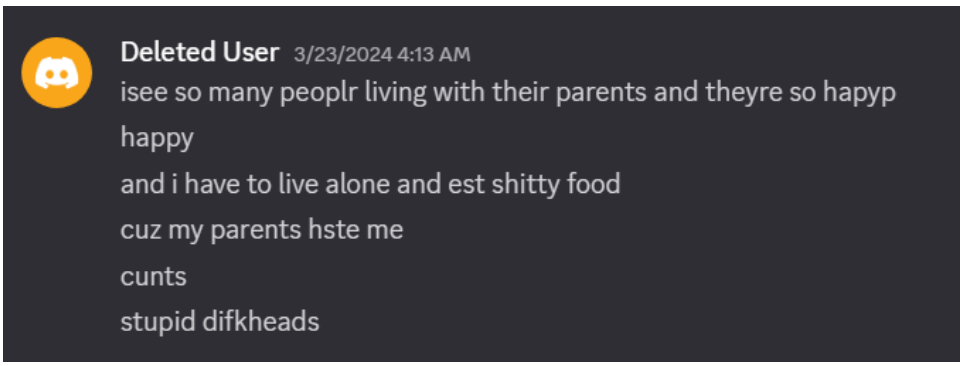


But leading up to that would be the first hints of the eventual problem:

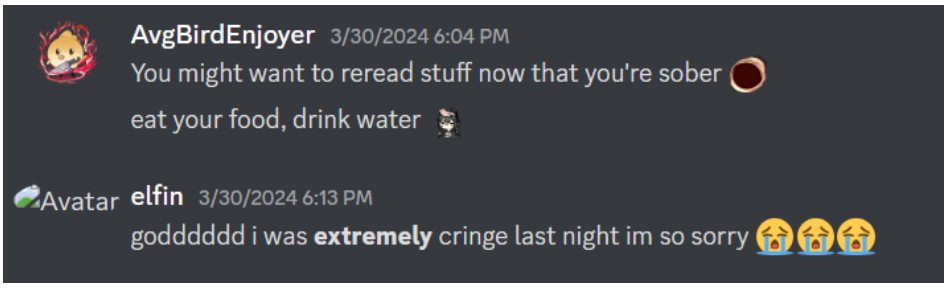


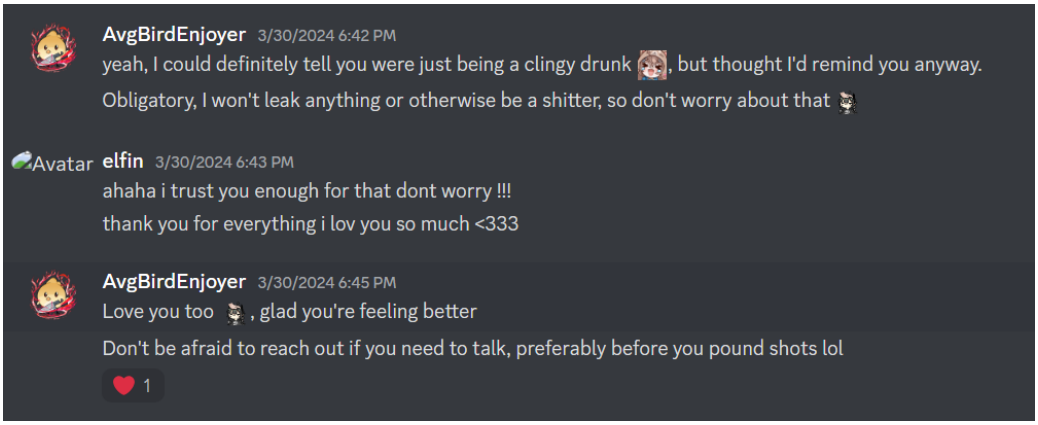


Admittedly I was enabling this type of behavior by saying what she wanted to hear, that she was a good girl or that I loved her etc. I did not think much of it at the time, because I did not go in to the conversation with any intentions aside from wanting to help, to me, it was casual. And considering the drunken sad posting that was common place back then, I felt that it was apt:

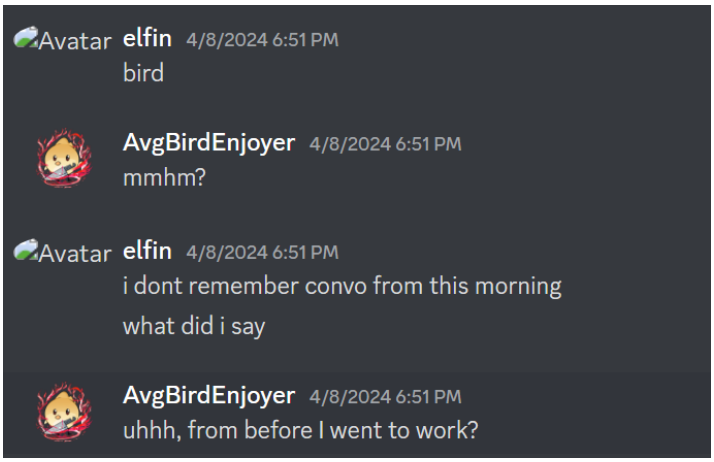


The next day would establish the recurring pattern of Elfin not remembering events or topics from the night prior, and me offering to summarize for her:



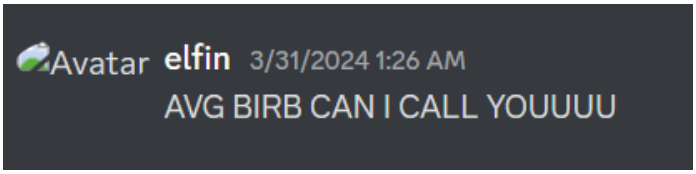


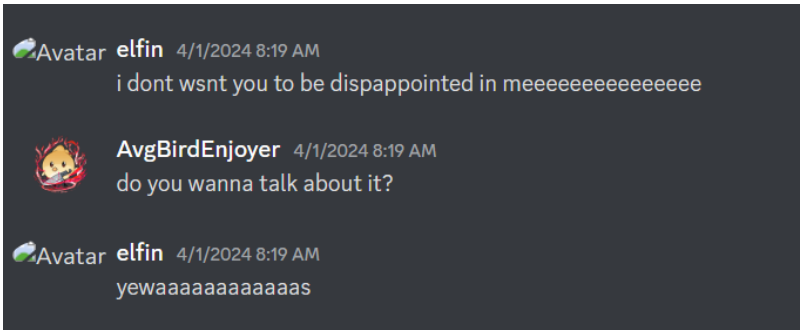
Another example:



April 1st, 2024

We would call pretty regularly, either with her instigating or me suggesting, and she'd usually be noticeably drunk:





The notable moment from this date was a call where she was supposedly sober:

I distinctly remember La La Land. In this call I remember Elfin asking me some pretty heavy questions, "have you ever dated?", "what's your take on relationships?", "What do you want out of this?". That last one specifically was something that stuck out to me as strange, and I answered very responsibly, I said something to the affect of "it doesn't matter what I want, I'd rather not taint this good deed that I'm trying to do."

April 3-6, 2024

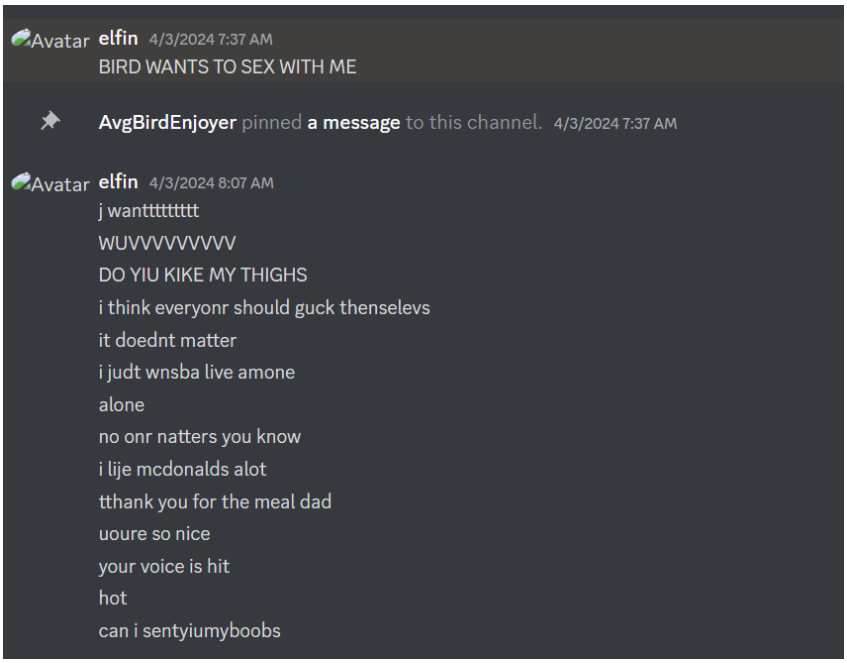
This is when things escalated.

I do not remember the exact date, and I'm not going to post the images, but at some point during this timeframe, Elfin while drunk in call sent me explicit images of herself completely unprompted, the closest thing to nudes one could imagine.

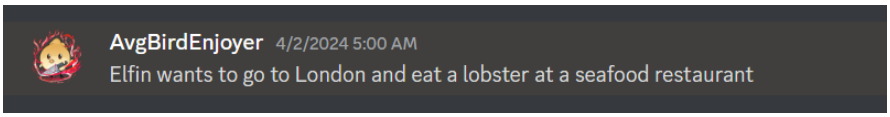
I remember telling her the following day and asking her if she wanted me to delete them, to which she said yes. All of those messages have since been deleted. I did save the images in case I ever needed proof of this event happening, you can judge me for that if you want, but clearly I ended up being right in that decision, those files are all dated April 6th:

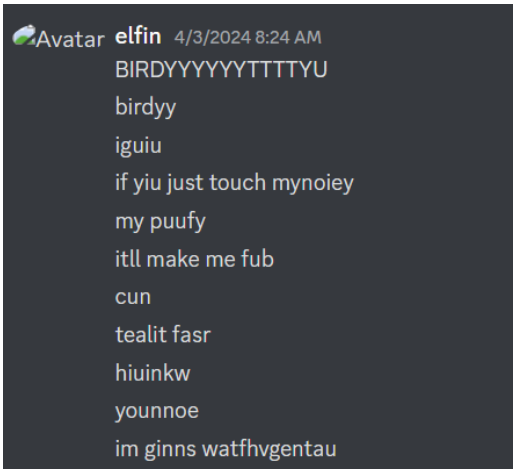
Modified: Saturday, April 6, 2024, 7:17:21 AM

I would not be surprised if it occurred earlier though, since leading up to the 6th was some very blatant instances of Elfin horny posting:

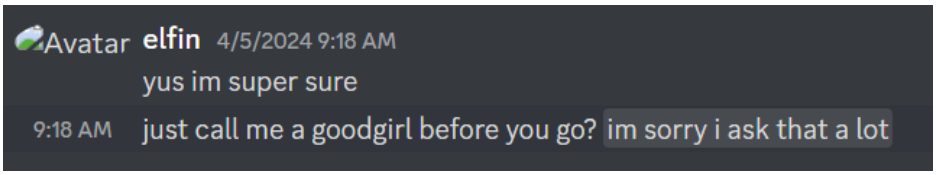


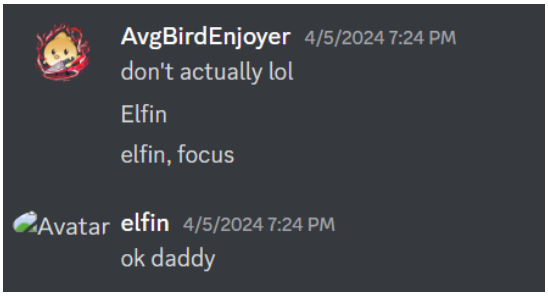
For context as to why that message was pinned, I had a list of things she said that she wanted to do pinned in our DMs, here is a more wholesome one for example:



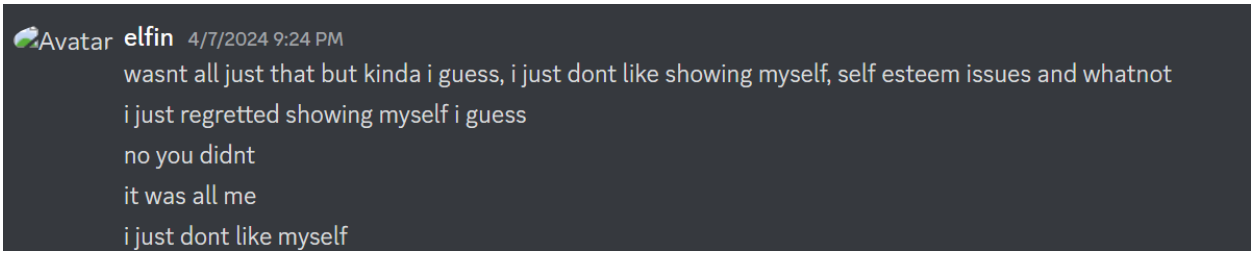


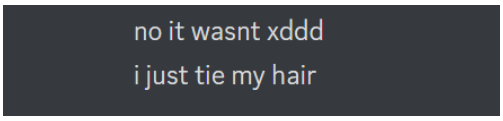
Translated: Elfin telling me if I touched her pussy, she'd cum real fast





Also at some point during this time, she sent me her face, which I genuinely deleted out of principle but here are some messages pertaining to that:

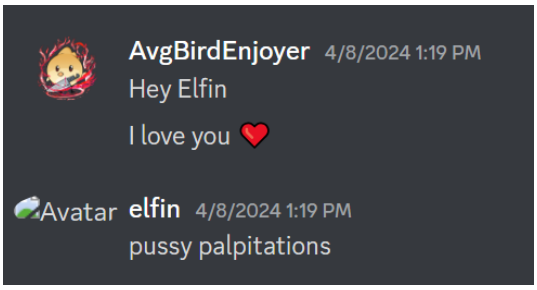


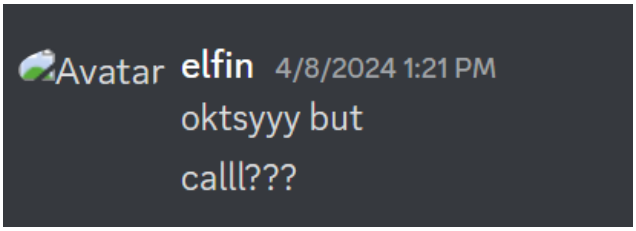


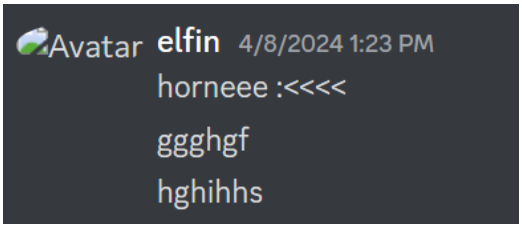
I asked if she had short hair in one of the pictures, to which she responded that no, she didn't, she just ties her hair

All of this to show that we were exceptionally close at one point, more than just casual friendship.

More examples of horny posting:







This was her asking to call while I was at work, because she was horny

And yes, on multiple occasions Elfin did masturbate in call to my voice. I did not participate because I was very wary of her likely being drunk and potentially regretting it or holding it against me after the fact, even with how close we seemed at the time.

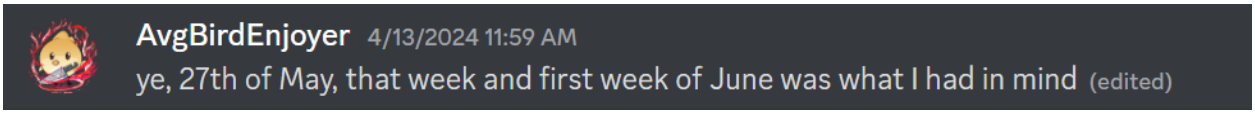
I will stress again that she and I called on a very regular basis during this time, it was a rather even split as to who started the call, as shown previously, meaning, it was never me pressuring her to masturbate to me. She was always the one to come on to me, and as exemplified above, there were multiple instances where she would be upset that I wasn't available.

I would always remind her of what she said and did while drunk, she had every ability to reevaluate her actions when sober, but she chose to continue to seek my attention instead.

This behavior continued and we called frequently through April but all of Elfin's messages from April 9th - May 7th were deleted.

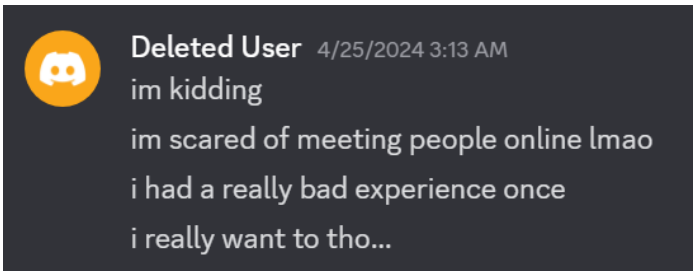
I struggle to understand the logic behind this, because as you can see, if it was meant to hide certain aspects of our "relationship" then she missed some obvious messages. And everything in this timeframe was deleted, things ranging from her mental health to innocuous things like songs she wanted to cover, which is not the case later on. However, April is when we first discussed the idea of meeting in person, that might've been the main reason.

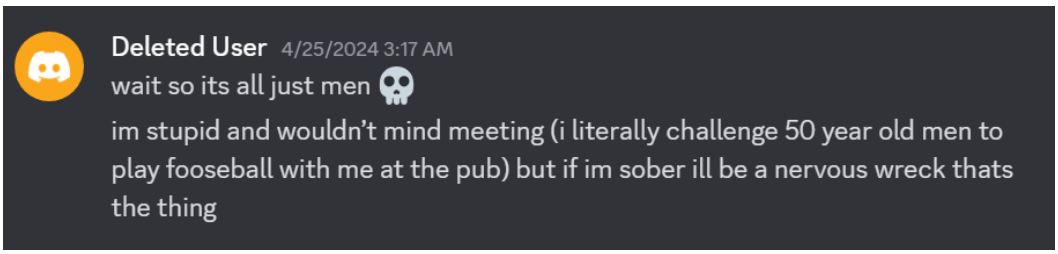
As you can see here with this rather important message, it establishes that we were discussing the idea of meeting in person rather early on. I would joke about it often following her various depressive episodes or mental breakdowns and given how close we were, it eventually became more than just a joke.

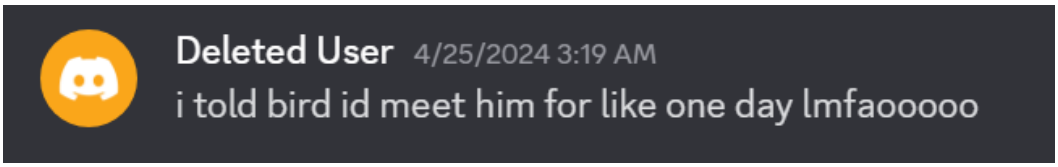


May 29th – June 12th, 2024

During this time period, I took a trip to the UK to meet up with some old friends that I've had for over a decade. Elfin would come to know about it because I asked her if she would like to meet at some point during my trip and she was relatively open to the idea:

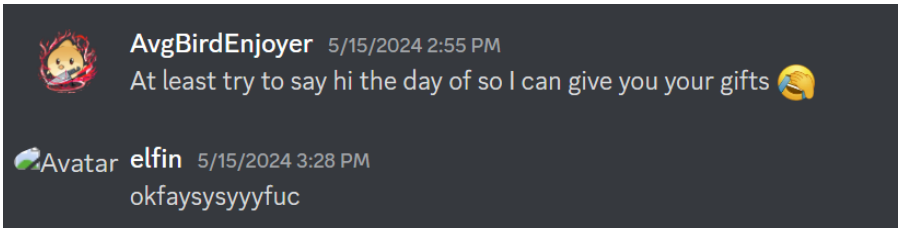




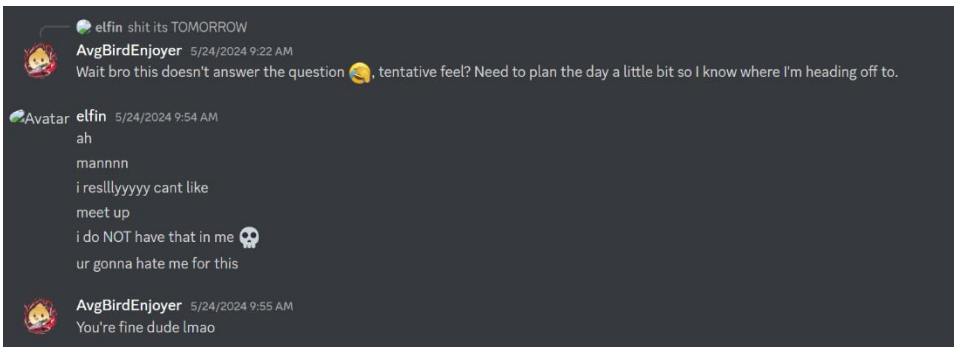


These are from a group chat, as stated above, she had deleted her side of our DMs from April to May by the time I pulled the logs

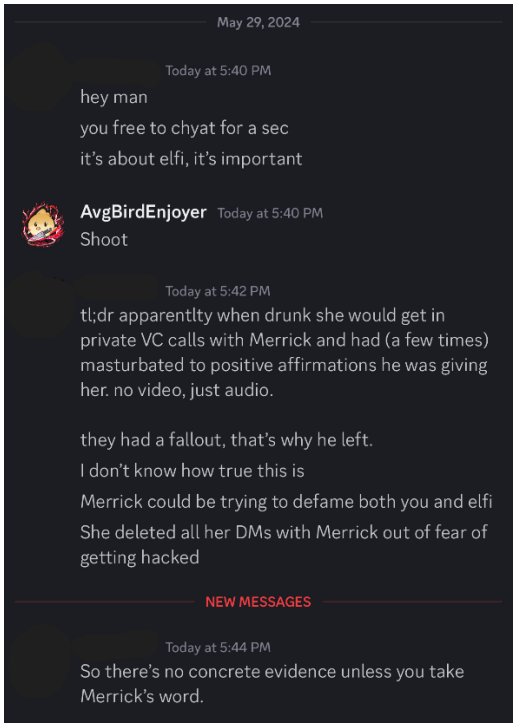
She would eventually give a soft "okay", it was a very non-commital response to my already non-commital phrasing ("try to"), so I was not expecting anything, nor would I hold it against her:

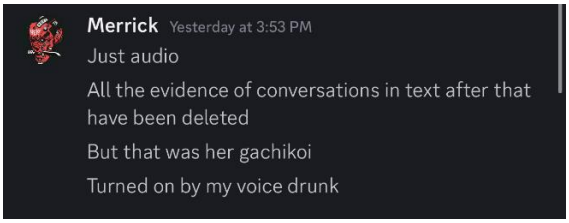


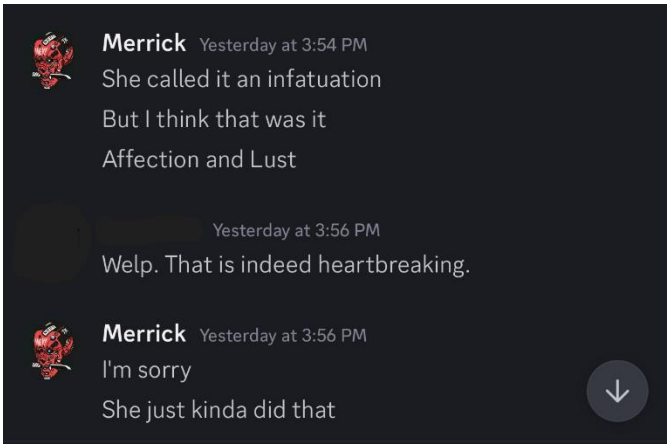
She would end up backing out of meeting, which again, I expected and did not hold it against her. And I would end up mailing her those gifts. For those of you who have been around long enough, you might recall some specific bat plushies she mentioned wanting.

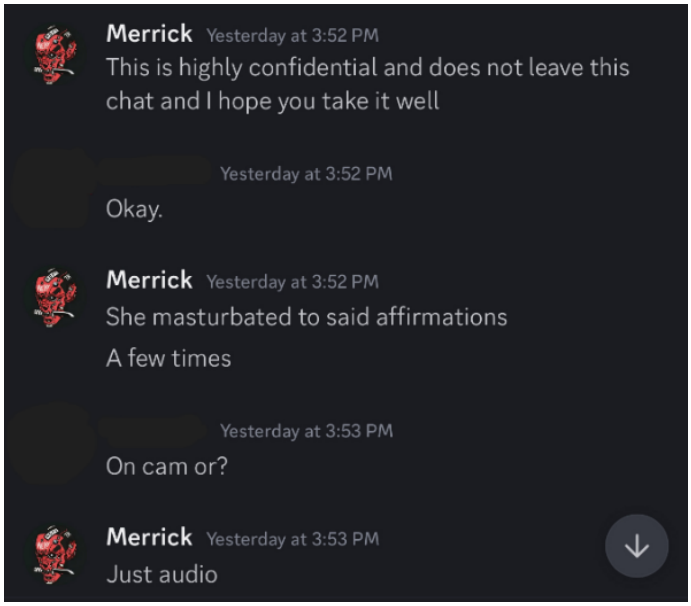


But something else happened during this trip:

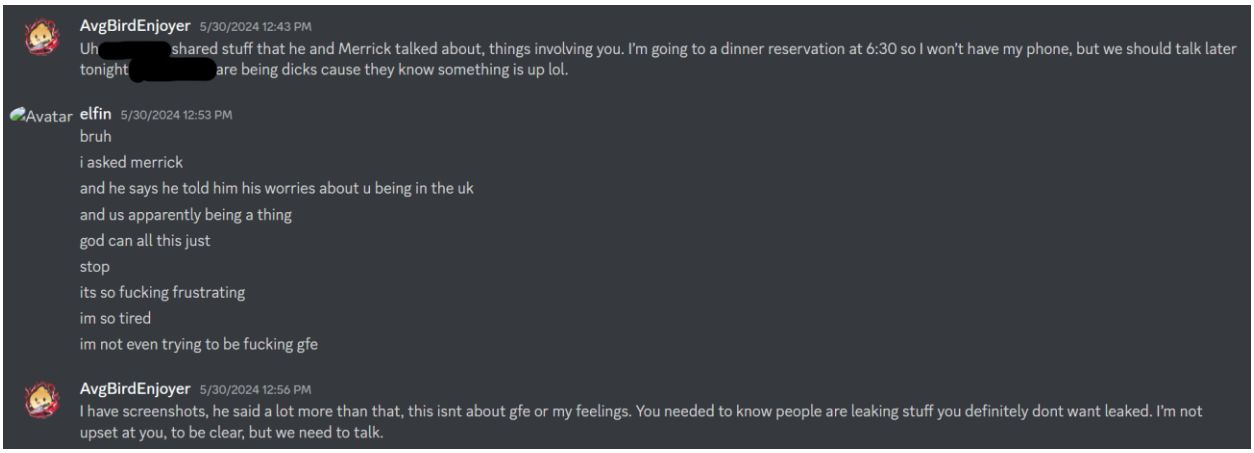


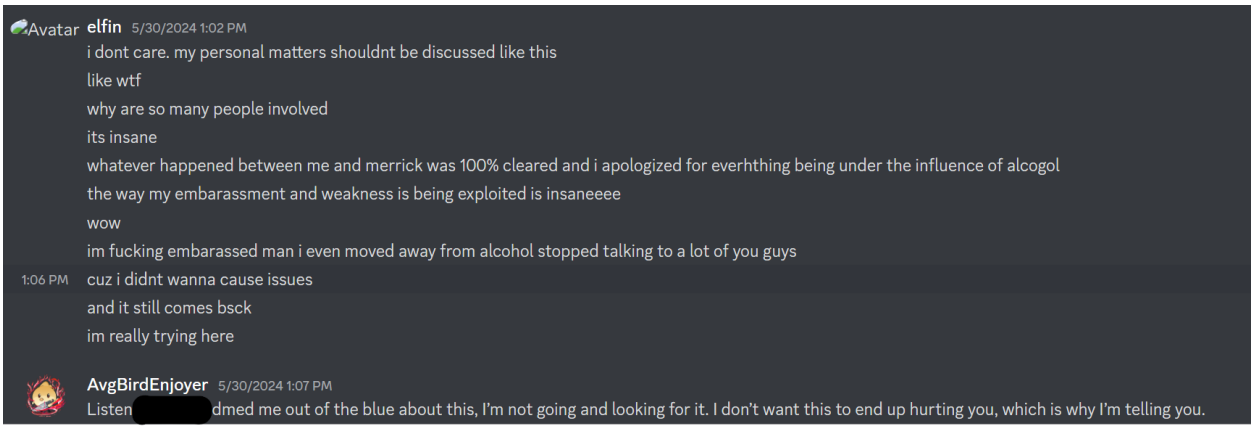






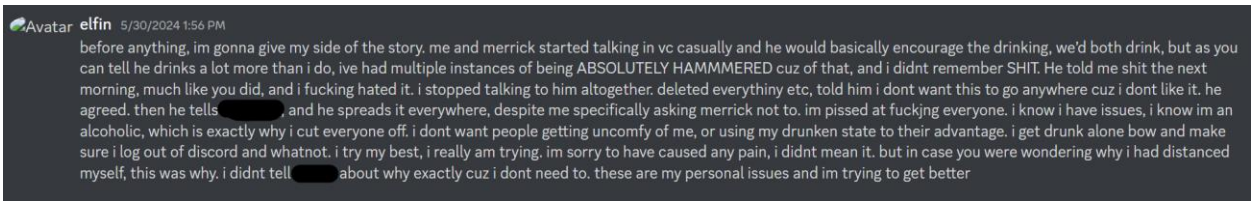
I was contacted by someone about Merrick and that Elfin had supposedly masturbated in call with him on multiple occassions. I brought it up to her:



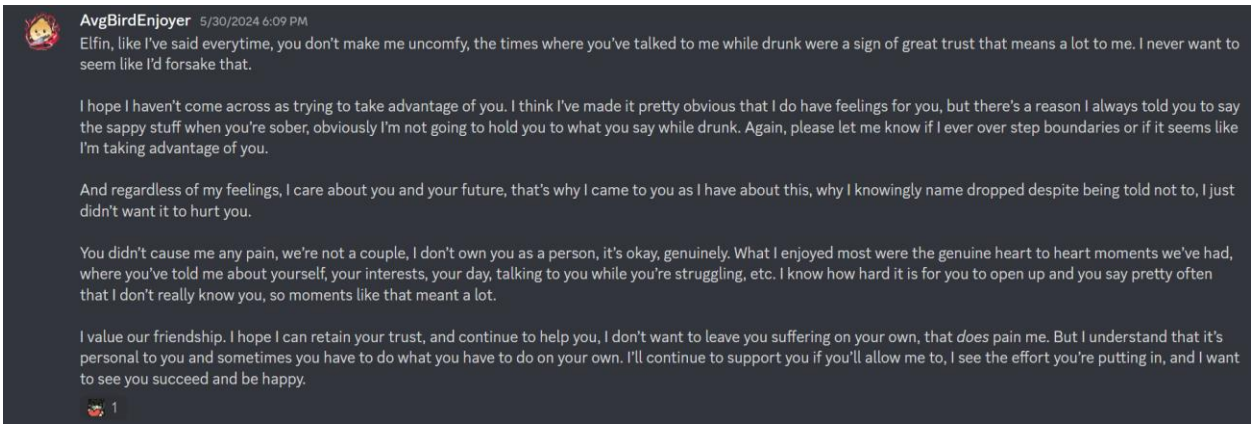


At the time, I found her reaction a bit odd, because she seemed more upset at me for supposedly discussing her private affairs than with the people leaking this information. But as you will see later, the deflection of blame as well as the attempts at victimizing herself will be consistently present.

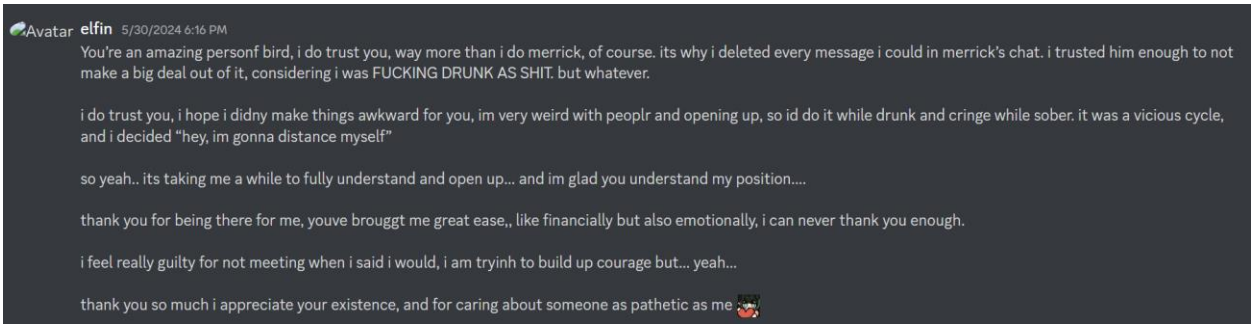
She would go on to write this apology explaining her side of the story:



I wrote this response, which she reacted to instantly despite the multi-hour long gap:



To which she responded with the following:



There was more conversation afterwards but this adequately paints the picture that I had at the time, she was being taken advantage of by Merrick while drunk.

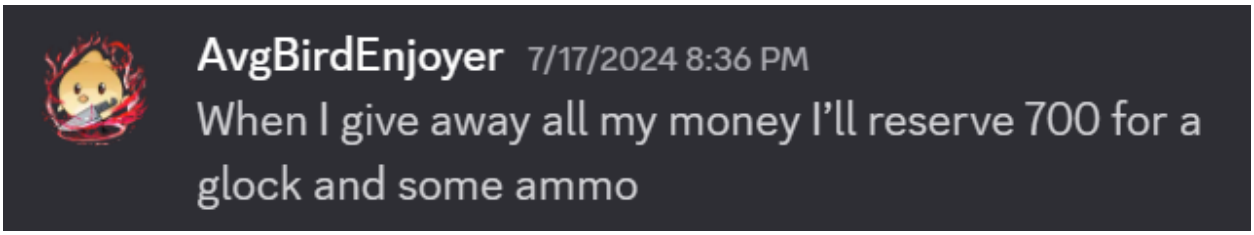
Following this, things were obviously a bit awkward for some time. But I was very consistent in keeping up interactions or otherwise giving her space to match my response, that I was still her friend regardless. Eventually things reached a point where I would consider them "recovered" but obviously never to the same level of intimacy.

One thing to note, is that I made it pretty clear in my response to the Merrick situation that while I had feelings for her I was fine putting them aside, however, she did not outright reject me in her response, as you can see, which is something she would claim to have done later on.

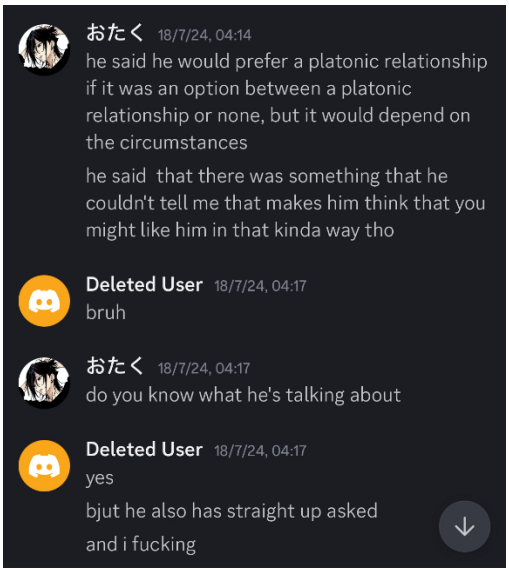
Chapter 2: My Perspective

July 17th, 2024

Coming out of the Merrick arc I was not doing particularly well for obvious reasons, I wasn't literally suicidal by any means but I was joking about it more than usual, rather, the jokes were more indepth than usual. I said the following to Otaku, Elfin's editor:



I thought it was an obvious joke or at least something that wasn't of immediate concern since I obviously had more than 700$ at that time, I was the one paying Otaku after all. But he took it very seriously, which I can't blame him for, and that resulted in me having to have a talk with him and Elfin, ironically I would be the one drunk this time. The call itself was nothing notable, but what he and Elfin discussed in private is worth showing:



Note: Timestamps are EU format, so these are July 18th

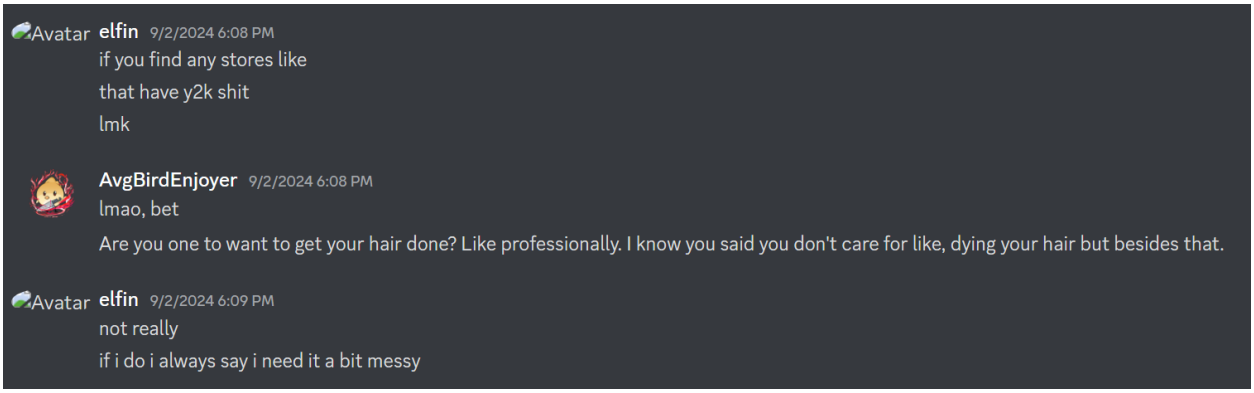
Otaku gave me these screenshots once I told him about Elfin's antics, which I was obligated to do considering that I pay him, and I would be leaving inevitably. He had kept it to himself up until then since it wasn't something I needed to know.

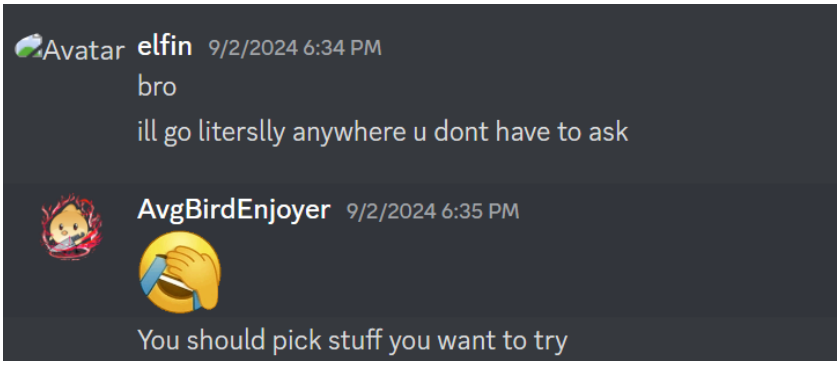
What she says here is a blatant lie. Not only did I never ask outright about the prospects of a relationship, but she is also clearly referring to our discussions during the Merrick situation where she never gave me any sort of direct answer in her responses, which is what I was alluding to before.

A lot of things happened in the later quarter of the year so I will present my perspective first then go back to specific events that were made apparent to me later on with a summary of events in chronological order at the end. Please pay attention to the dates to avoid confusion.

September 2024

September 2nd is around the time when I booked my flight for my second UK trip after she agreed to meet. My flight would be on December 22nd and I'd touchdown December 23rd. The discussion happened in a call but here's some instances of us discussing things she'd want to do:





In response to me listing out some Michelin star restaurants I had picked out

I mainly want to make it clear that 1). This was something mutually agreed upon, not solely me forcing it and 2). That the intention wasn't to attempt to sleep with her, it was to allow her to do things she's always wanted to do but supposedly couldn't on her own. It was me spending time with my friend.

But her behavior in the month of September was exceptionally strange, and it's difficult to not feel like she was intentionally trying to lead me on at times:

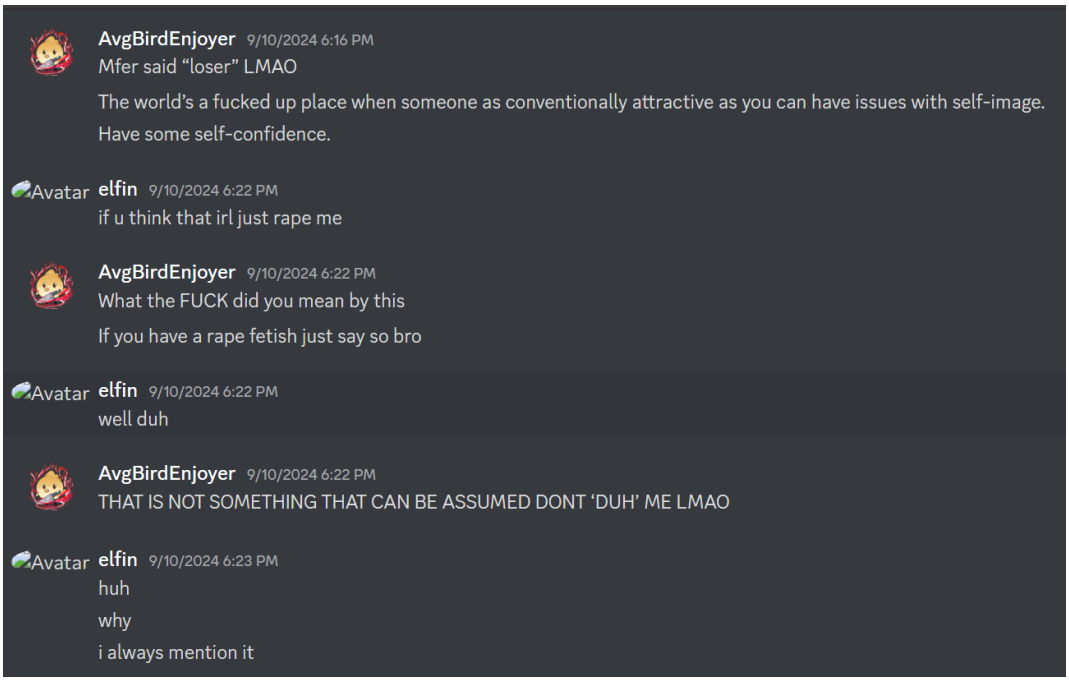
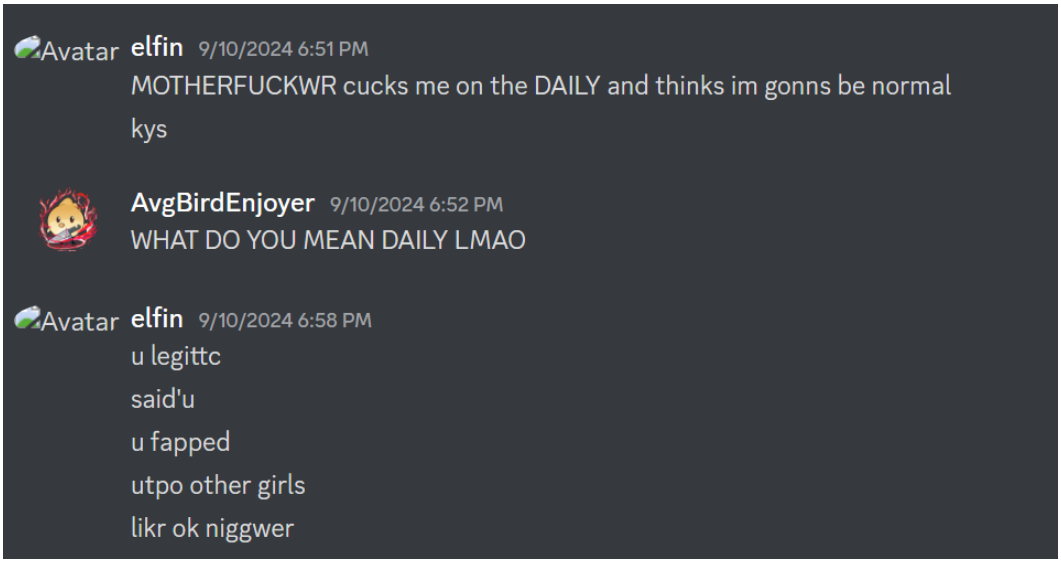
Sending me a picture with her face again





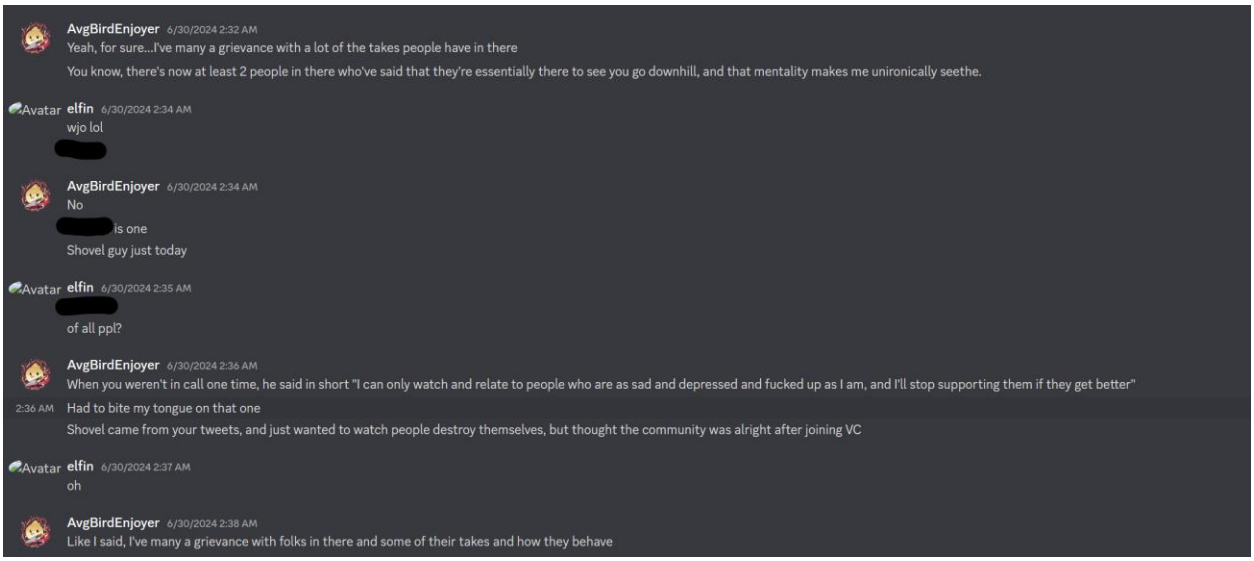
As you can see, September was a rather strange month. All of her previous behaviors picked up again during this month, after a roughly 3-month gap coming out of the Merrick arc in June. Mind you this was also after we agreed to meet, and I had booked flights.

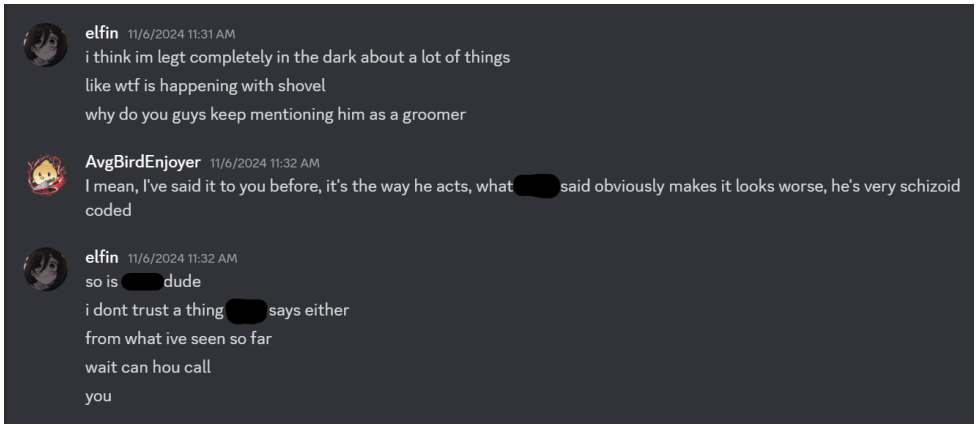
Now, there were 2 other major characters during this time, one was Captcha and the other was Shovelbreath.

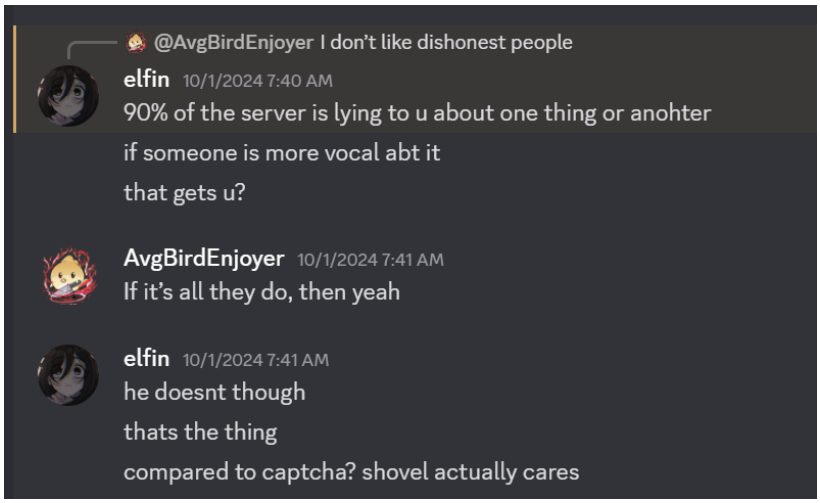
Before I get into these interactions, I want to specify that Elfin is her own person and, as such, is allowed to see anyone who she wants to see (assuming they are of age). The problem comes in how she handled the situation, lying consistently to the people around her and seeing multiple people at the same time.

Shovel

I'll start with Shovelbreath because his story wraps up sooner from my perspective. Shovel and I never got along. To me, he was a very sleazy guy who lied about the nature of his character often and said that he was only around to see the server crash and burn. Obviously at this time I was already a moderator in Elfin's server, so I had to take those types of comments somewhat seriously. Shovel raised a lot of red flags for me, and I voiced those concerns to Elfin many times over only for her to always dismiss it out of hand:

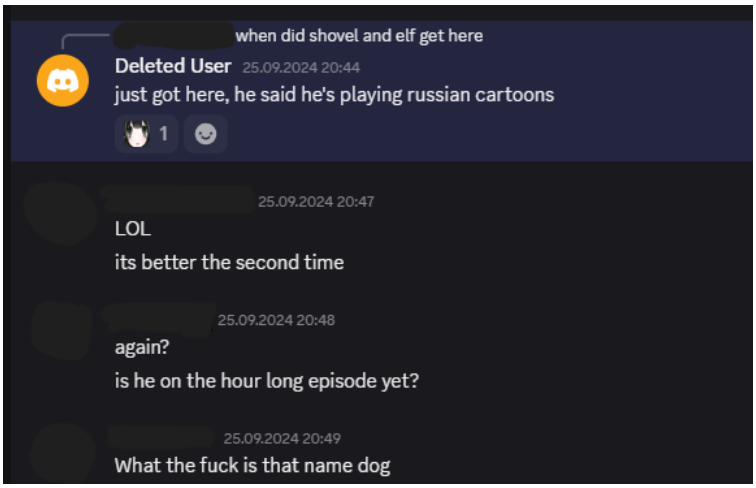






Shovel and I would always butt heads, but at some point, I noticed a shift in the types of jokes he would make, he started directing cuck jokes at me and said things in VC like “oh, you just don’t like me because you view me as a threat”, things of that nature that seemed just a bit too on the nose.

It became blatantly obvious that Elfin and Shovel were talking in DMs, this specific instance was what made me pull Elfin aside to talk about Shovel.



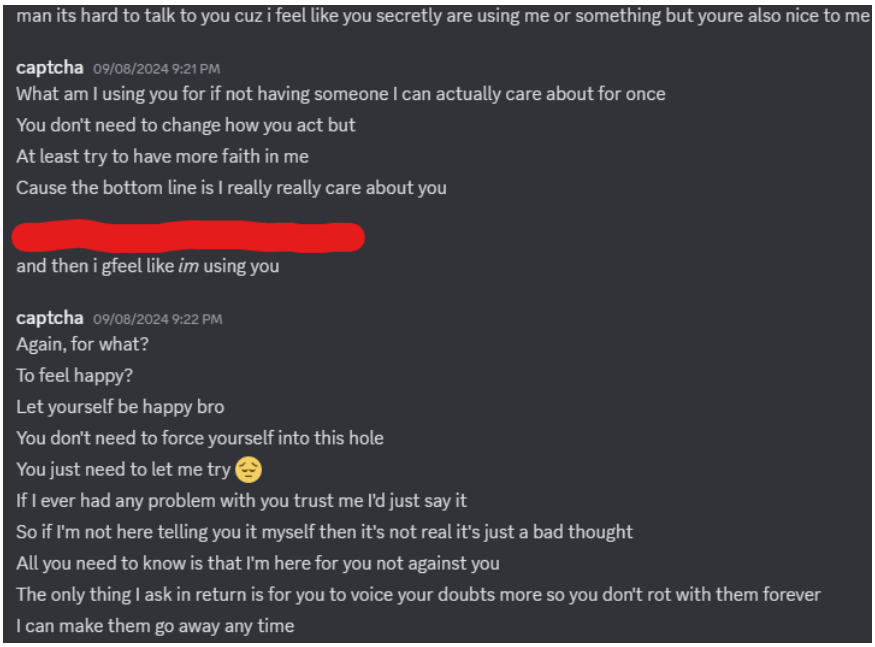
EU dates, this was September 25th, 2024

Elfin and Shovel showed up in open VC at the same time and she mentioned how he was going to stream some Russian cartoons. There was no other mention of this anywhere in the server so it must have been in DMs. Elfin is a public figure, so the optics of this could have caused problems for her and her career. Not only that, after the Merrick situation, I was constantly concerned about someone else taking advantage of her, and I always thought that Shovel was someone who did not have the best intentions for her, so I reached out.

I pulled her into a call afterwards and explained how strange the whole thing looked from an outside perspective, how Shovel, this guy who rarely spoke truthfully just so happened to be taking a college course where he just so happened to have an assignment that just so happened to feature Russian cartoons that he’s privately messaging you about. It seemed questionable at best, and I was worried that Shovel was attempting to manipulate her. She seemed to understand the point I was making and unfriended him afterwards, to me, this issue was nipped in the bud.

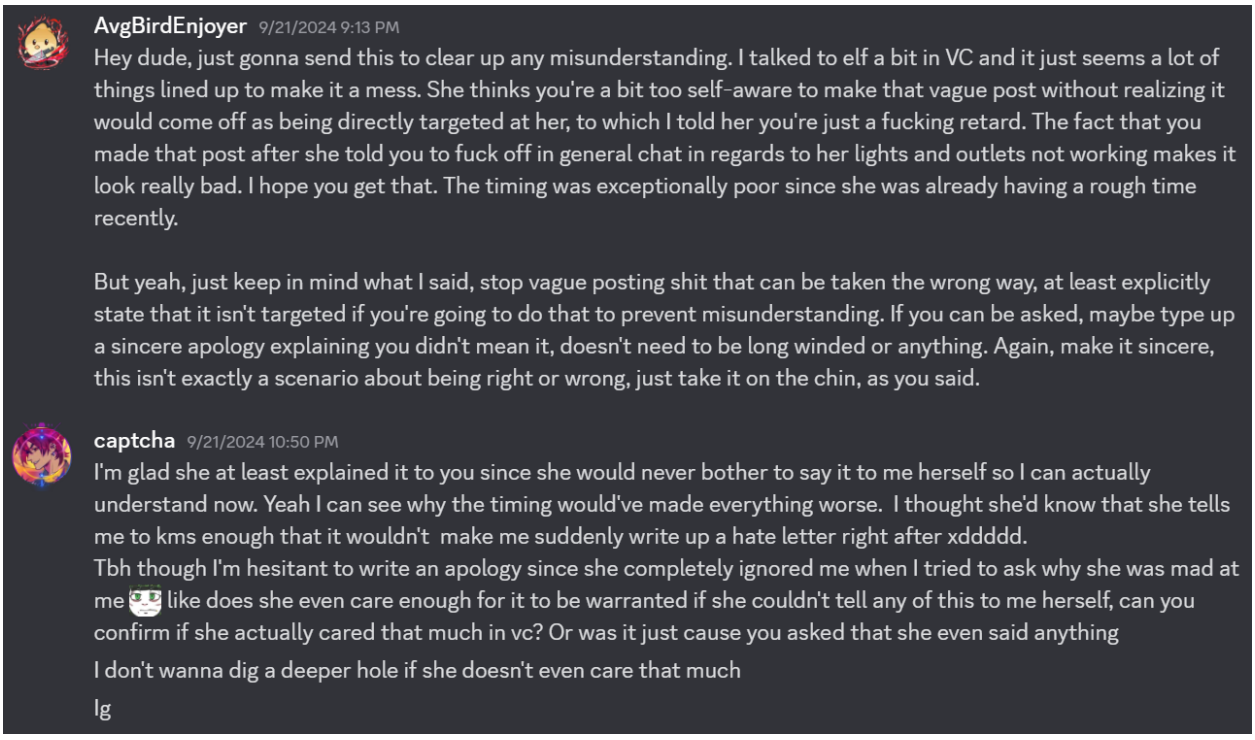
Captcha

On to Captcha, he at this point had started posting things in his containment thread, incel-maxxing, which was intended to be a joke, but he seemed to be posting in earnest with his woman related issues. This is the only screenshot that I could find:



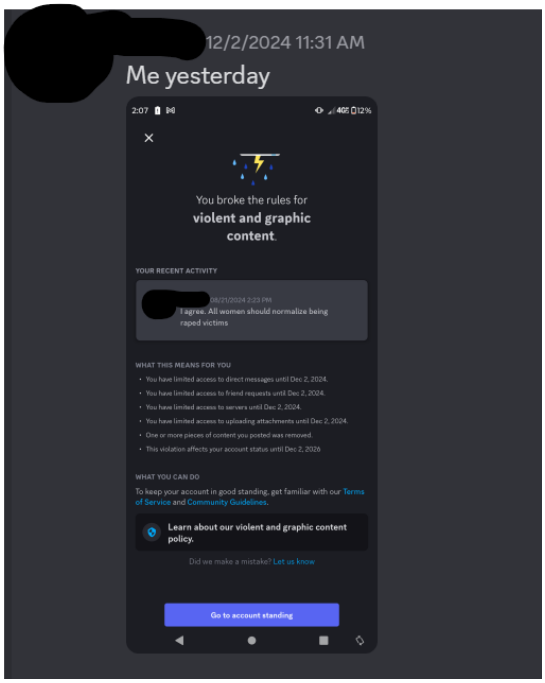
He posted this screenshot in late September I believe.

There was one day where Captcha said something along the lines of “Oh, it’s so frustrating when women are given the answer to all their problems, but they don’t want to take it” and Elfin got exceptionally mad at this comment. I mediated, I spoke to her, told her to calm down, then I also messaged Captcha and gave him some advice, Here is a portion of that. I was very unassuming of him; he would eventually be banned at Elfin’s request in early October:

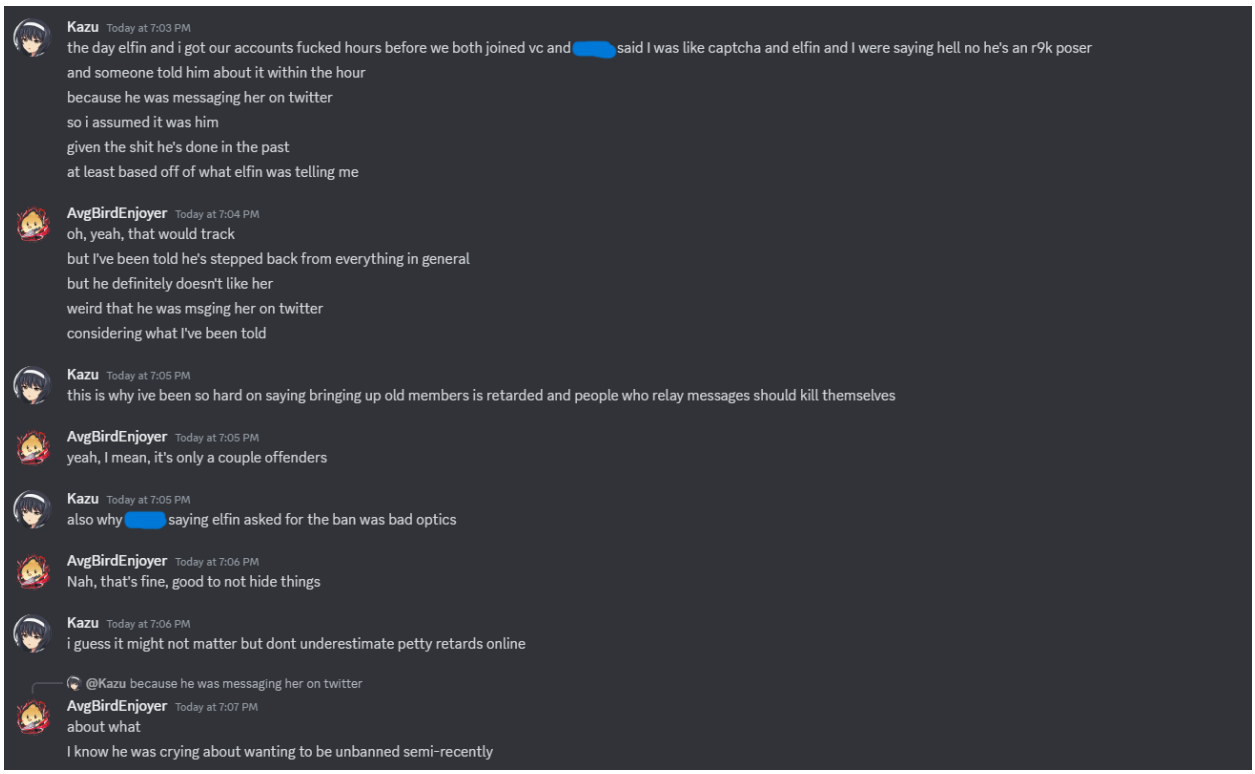


December 4th, 2024

Nothing stood out to me as an event until early December, during this time people were getting their accounts reported and suspended for making distasteful jokes:



A couple days later Sako (on his Kazu alt account) would dm me with his pet theory about it being Captcha on an alt who was reporting people's accounts:



Kazu Today at 7:08 PM
he was basically having a bitch fit about what she said
elfin showed me the screenshots but its on the other account

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:09 PM
okay, so you would know based on who was in VC right

Kazu Today at 7:09 PM
she said he got pretty obsessed and parasocial, confessed and turned down then he became a petty whiner also apparently threatened her and shit

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:09 PM
what

Kazu Today at 7:09 PM
he doesn't deserve to be in the server

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:09 PM
mmm, yeah, tracks

> AvgBirdEnjoyer okay, so you would know based on who was in VC right

Kazu Today at 7:09 PM
it was very early in the morning it could have been anyone

> AvgBirdEnjoyer what

Kazu Today at 7:10 PM
do you not know
or are you asking what i know

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:10 PM
I'm asking

Kazu Today at 7:11 PM
i just got a tldr of everything i dont really need to know specific things but apparently he was threatening to dox her at one point i have a lingering suspicion that if elfin trusted him enough to have given him personal info then there was more going on she didn't talk about but thats a stretch she's doxxed herself on throne a few times even [redacted] has told her she accidentally did that

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:13 PM
Has she, it's always been generic area

Kazu Today at 7:13 PM
idk ive never seen it happen
just heard of it (edited)

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:13 PM
she almost leaked her bank details drunk the one time buying something off throne for another streamer

Kazu Today at 7:14 PM
but its not surprising if she is sloppy with opsec

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:14 PM
but it was just a close call

Kazu Today at 7:14 PM
yeah that might've been what im thinking of

> Kazu i have a lingering suspicion that if elfin trusted him enough to have given him personal info then there was more going on she didn't talk about

Kazu Today at 7:14 PM
so maybe this has some merit

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:15 PM
might just be stuff he found off the board or smth tbh some schizo theory, idk did she seemed worried about being doxed? Or was it just a threat

Kazu Today at 7:16 PM
its not really my business to ask but she didn't seem very intimidated

AvgBirdEnjoyer Today at 7:16 PM
right, exactly my point wasn't saying to ask, just the vibe when you were having the convo

Kazu Today at 7:17 PM
iirc something along the lines of "he kept vaguely threatening to dox me if i didnt unban him and i didn't give in" apparently he was banned and unabanned because he whined about it hard enough and said he went to therapy or whatever lol cringe

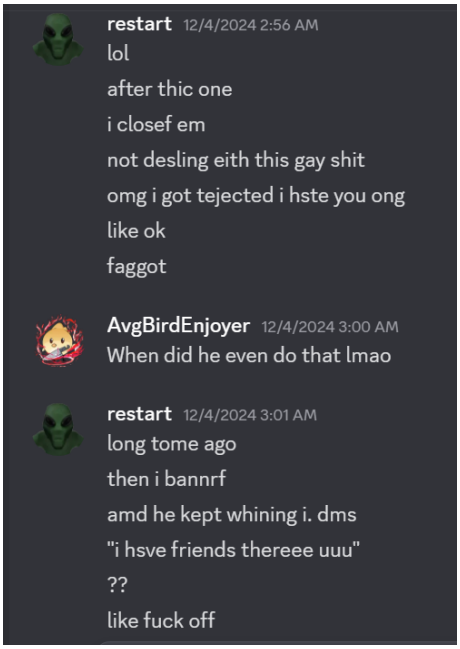
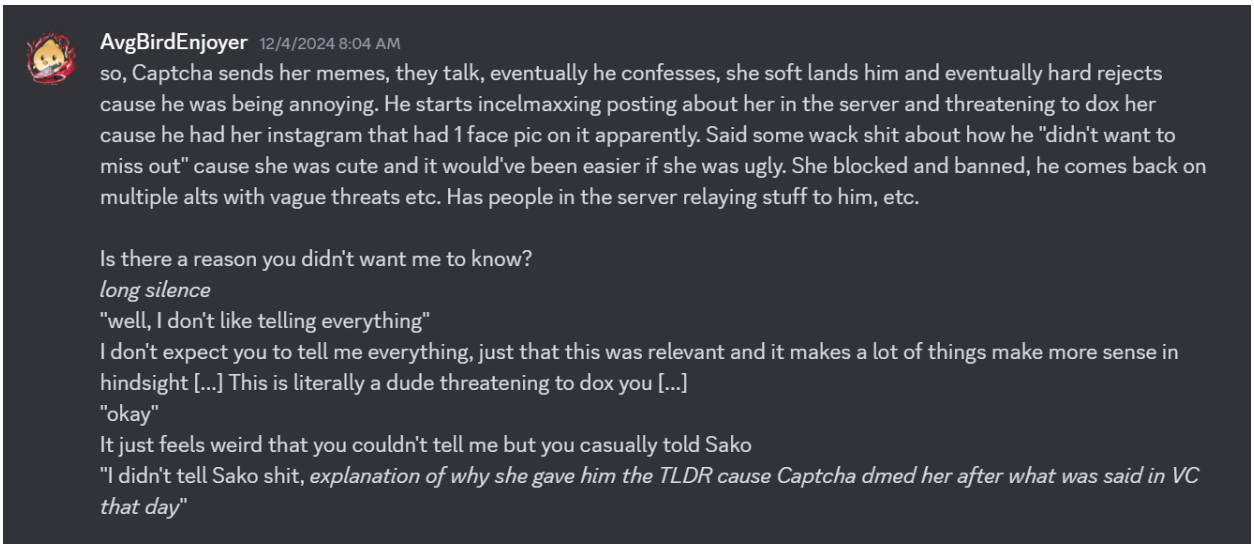
I would bring this theory to her (on her alt, since her main was also suspended):



I would then pull her into a private call to talk about this issue related to Captcha, I took notes on it during, but essentially, she told me what felt like a story of half-truths:

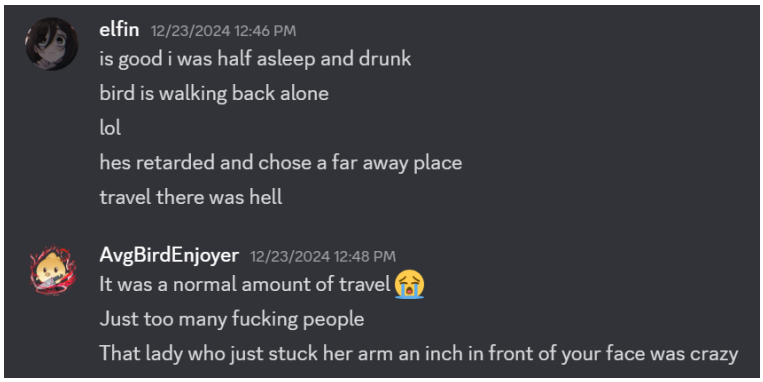


The portion about the singular undeleted face pic stood out and she also omitted the reasoning for why he knew her name.

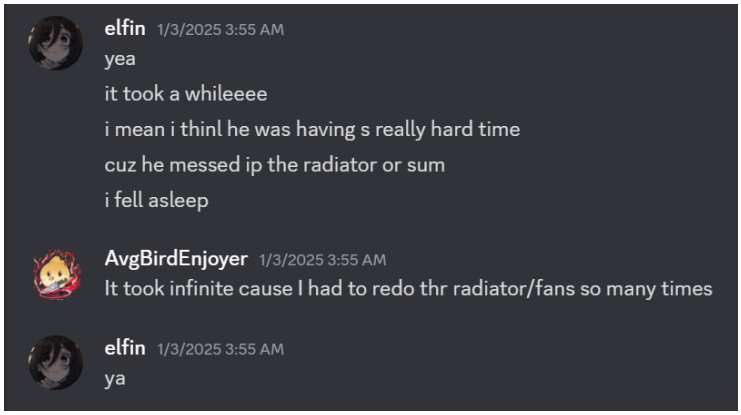
I noticed the odd nature of her story; however, this was 3 weeks out from my flight, so I did not particularly want to start a fight so close to when we'd be meeting, so I let it go with the intent of bringing it up at a later date.

December 22nd, 2024 – January 3rd, 2025

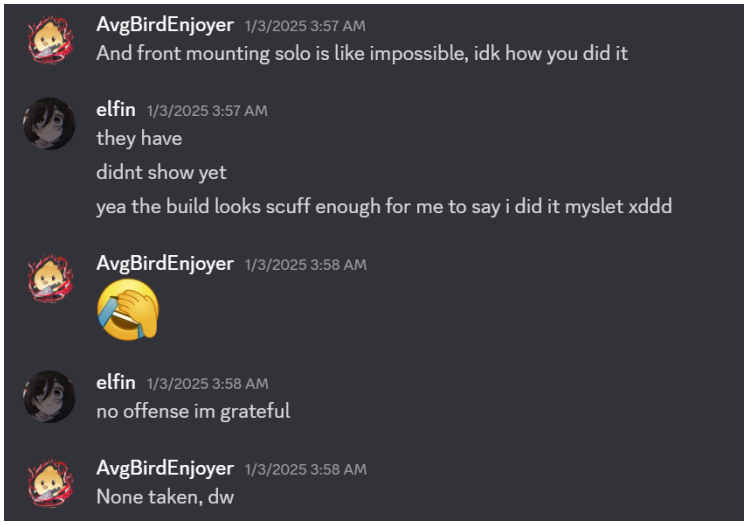
This is my second trip to the UK, during which I would meet Elfin in person. We hung out roughly every other day as she was genuinely agoraphobic to some degree, so a rest day in between was needed, here's just some amount of proof that we actually did meet:



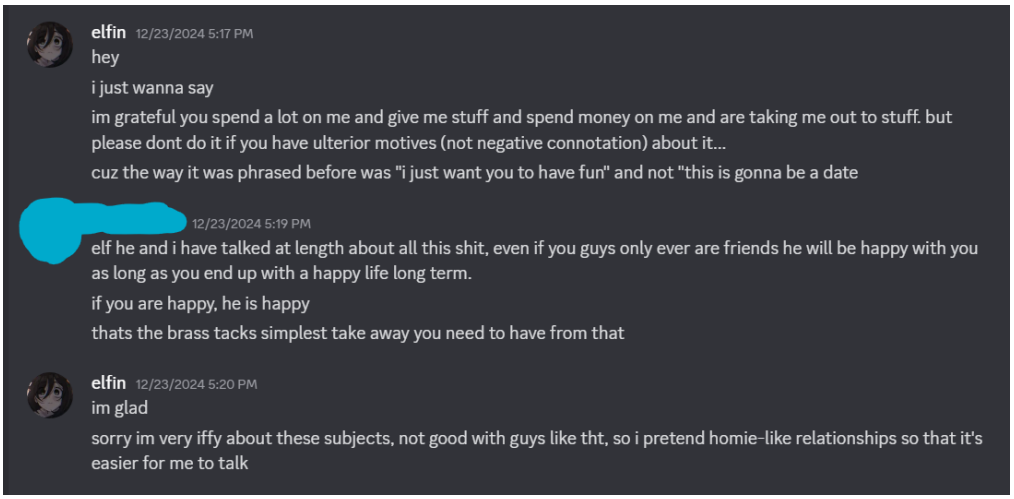
Just recollecting some activities that we did, I had booked a couple of Michelin star restaurants in London, we went shopping for anime figures, went through Chinatown, we found a couple Build-A-Bear locations, but they were all exceptionally packed cause it was the holidays, and I built her PC:



PC building Woes



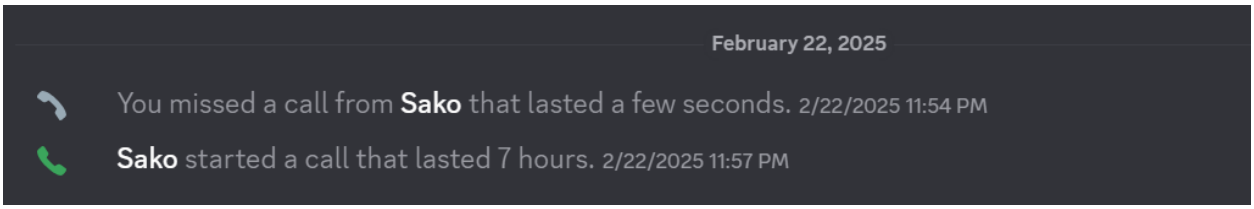
During this trip would be the only time she gave me a straightforward rejection:



This is in a group chat with Elfin, another person (a mediator), and I, so Elfin was speaking directly to me here

February 22nd, 2025

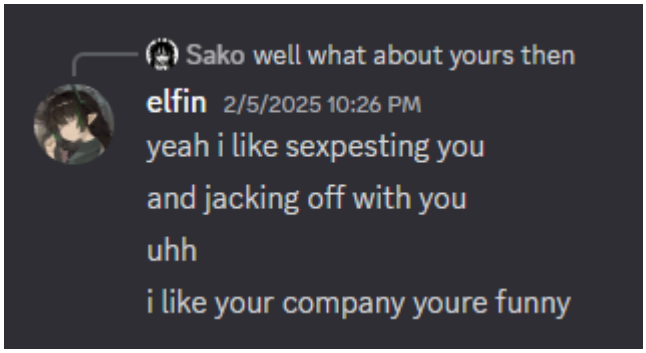
Following our meeting, this was the next major event. On this day, Sako would drunkenly call me:



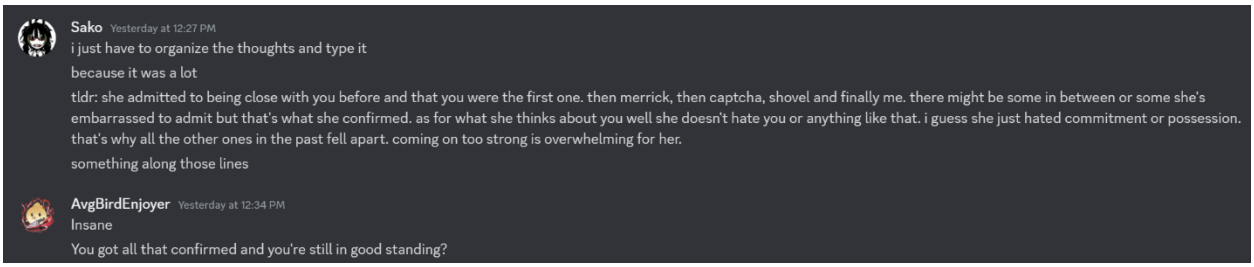
He started off by telling me about someone in the server who was attempting to dig up Elfin's old information and that he could potentially become a problem. He would then move on to post something from /vt, the typical post where someone is claiming that "Elfin does xyz", I chose purposefully to not put it here because he would go on to exclaim how "man, some of these things kinda line up".

Naturally, I began questioning him, trying to understand what he was hinting at, asking him if he had confirmation of anything, etc. Eventually, we both came to realize that he and I both had a similar experience with Elfin. We both knew a lot about her personal life, we both received nudes, and she was overall very flirtatious or sexual with us.

We talked for a while, and walked out of it with 2 major takeaways, 1). I gave him a list of people I suspected, those being myself, Merrick, Shovel, Captcha, and Sako himself, to see if she would address it or confirm, I also wanted to know what she thought of me, why she kept me around. If she were to say that she only kept me for the money, or she said something with the sentiment that she never needed me anyway, I would leave immediately. And 2). We both recognized the pattern, and we both agreed that he was temporary and when his time was up, I would confront her in private and be done as well:



Sako would go on to confirm the list of people:



March 17th, 2025

Sako would go on and eventually be banned and I took that as the catalyst to start talking to people. One of those people was Lil Bean, because I knew that he was close friends with Captcha because of a previous VRC session. I expected to get Captcha's side of the story and nothing more. However, it turned out that Lil Bean had nearly all of the necessary info for us to form a coherent, full picture.

Chapter 3: Sako & The Truth

Bean would tell me that he was pulled into a call with Shovel, Elfin, and Lauchlan on November 8th to help them deal with Captcha who had supposedly been harassing Elfin for months because he wanted to be unbanned from the server.

He would come to find that what he was told was largely a lie to obfuscate the true nature of the situation when he eventually spoke to Captcha:

so like around august and the start of september me and her were really close right like we enter key trollface

captcha 03/01/2025 8.53
we would call in dms all the time watch movies play games what not but it eventually turned into smth more I started to really like her she would send -stuff etc and eventually we were like edating🤓 right and I actually like loved her by the end of it so hence where the emotion comes from for what follows one day like literally a switch flipped and all of it like disspeared and she went complete ghost without saying anything to me or explaining why over the span of like 2-3 weeks but she would act normal in the server and brush it off every time I asked it was really fucked so like I was there like on the verge of love after a month+ of being super close and eventually relationship and things were going super wll and then she just switches off out of nowhere so Im obviously pretty upset and I tell her this reguarly and she continues to brush it off or make like excuses but never acknowledge anything head on so Im like getting pure aids for almost a month until I FINALLY manage to get her to tell me whats up and I finally am able to distance myself a little because of how she is that was most healthy for me right but a WEEK after she finally tells me why shes been distant after all that aids and our situation she goes and sexts lauch from the server and hides it and I had my suspicions at the time but she would always deny it and say like im being insecure or paranoid/controlling and all that shit until a week after that lauch comes to ME and tells me himself. now im like broken hearted atp obviously and pissed and I confront her and she tries to act like lauch groomed him and manipulated her and I was being an asshole for even bringing it up AHAHAHAH and constantly calling lauch like a pedo groomer maniputor and deflecting blame in dms but the whole time I was in call with lauch and shovel and lauch had already shown and explained his dms and what happened that night and when she finds out we were in call COMPLETELY 180s and begs to join the call and now apoloigisng every second and saying she didnt mean it and oh it was actually xyz BLATANTLY trying to manipulate us into getting as many people to take her side as possible constantly changing her story to try make herself look like the victim and just being a disgusting manipulator the entire time and also I find out in this call she also did the same thing (sexting sending nudes etc) to shovel a few weeks before coming onto ME and she came onto all of us herself btw went into our dms and called and flirted etc but she kept saying they manipulated her into doing all this in dms but when she joined the gc completely switched up knowing they could now defend themselves and saw the lies she was saying and from there she does 100 more disgusting things like genuinely admitting she masturbated to her DEAD dad and fantasies about fucking him as a little fun fact and when I asked if she was lying about her dads death (because she talked about him like he was still alive - still does btw) WHICH IS BY FAR THE BETTER SCENARIO she says I should kill myself and i should rot in hell for even believing that like WHATTTTTTT THE FUCK IS WRONG WITH THIS BITCH and she deleted her main acc around then as well to hide all the evidence but I screenshotted/recorded all of our dms because I knew something was up so she constantly contridicated herself trying to manipulate me there too and all this is glossing over how horribly she treated me and them during all this and before and after some other fun facts she said the person closest to me died just to get away from me and she constantly mocks the same illness her dead dad which she ^ died of theres a literal endless list of her scum and now I have to constantly hear about her success and shit but I have everything I need to destroy her community knowing full well she deserves it

Lil Bean 03/01/2025 9.06
Alright, hold on. Can you get on call in a moment after I'm done with the kitchen thingy.
I think something like this deserves actual discussion considering the scale and depth

Alright, I think I can now join call just a minute

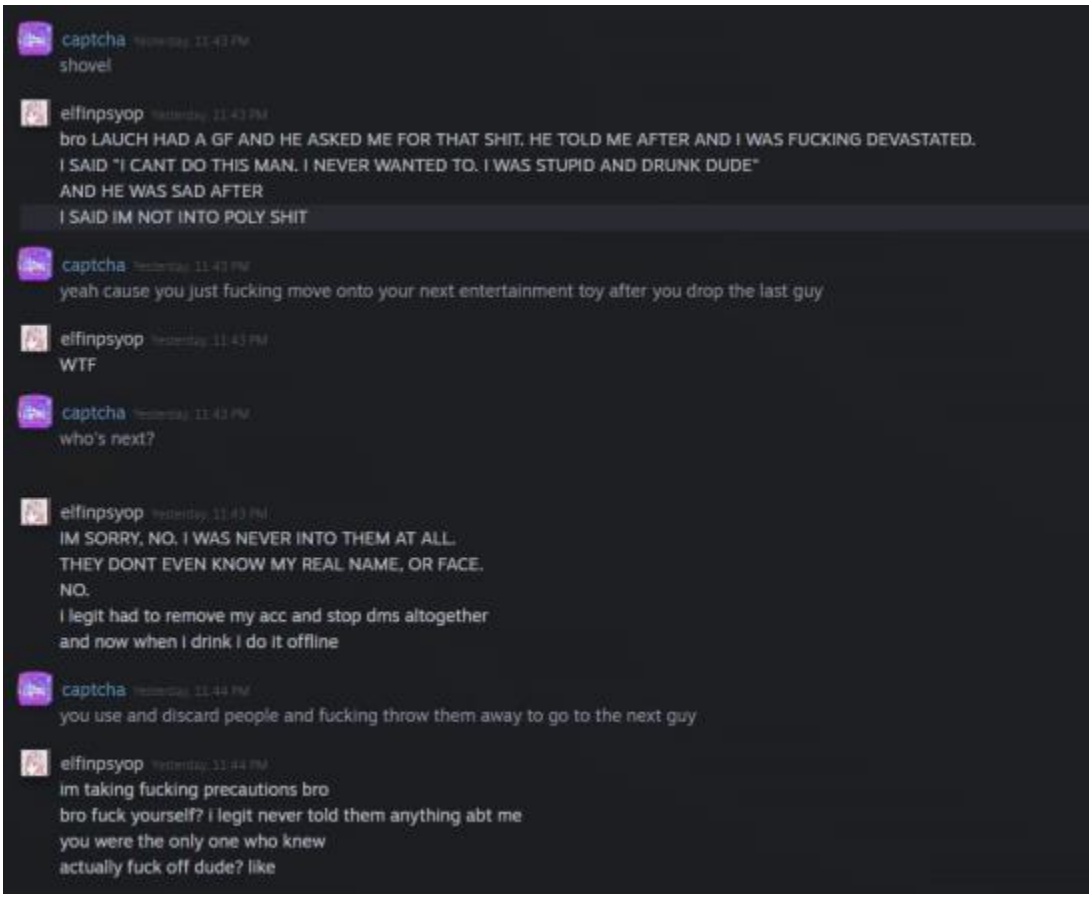
Lil Bean started a call that lasted 5 hours. 03/01/2025 9.20

Bean assessed that what Captcha was saying had to be somewhat true because it would be extremely unlikely for him to be lying and also pick the same 2 characters, those being Shovelbreath and Lauchlan. Captcha would go on to say how he, Shovelbreath, and Lauchlan in September, all came to the realization that Elfin had sexted and/or sent nudes to all 3 of them while maintaining the guise of exclusivity; never outright saying that they were dating but insinuating that she was talking to no one else, that each one of them was somehow special or different than the rest. They would form a group chat to discuss this.

Captcha did not take this well and would confront Elfin in Steam chat while in call with Shovel and Lauchlan to cross reference what Elfin was saying, and at this point Elfin attempts to manipulate him very blatantly:



Here she accuses Shovel and Lachlan of grooming her, lying directly to Captcha to avoid admitting that she was sexting multiple men at once.

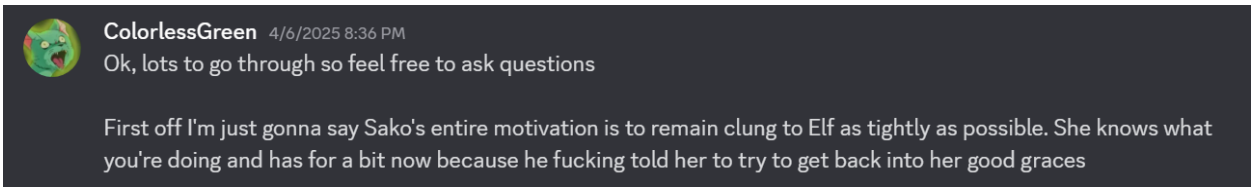
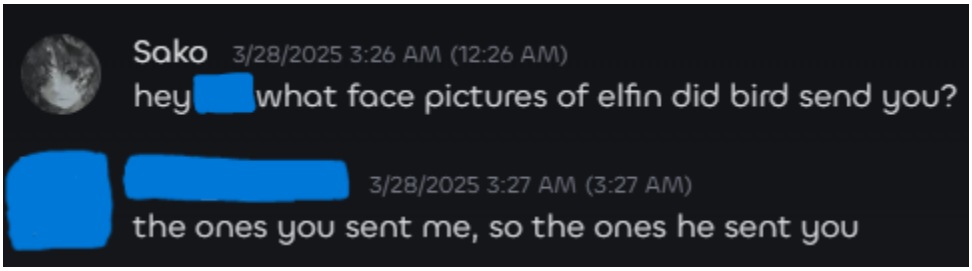
Chapter 4: The Document

Up until Sako told me of his relationship with Elfin, I had only my suspicions, and despite Elfin being an objectively terrible liar, I am not one to confront and accuse without a smoking gun, which Sako graciously gave to me. When he confirmed the list of people, I began to realize that this can no longer be handled privately, she is a danger to herself and those around her. I then began collecting and organizing information on Elfin's behavior with the intention of posting it in her Discord server so that those most likely to be targeted were aware. The necessity of making this public knowledge became even more apparent after I talked to Bean and he told me of Elfin's behavior with Shovel, Lauchlan, and Captcha and just how manipulative she was capable of being.

However, Sako would eventually prove himself to be a turncoat:



He gave Elfin the logs for our DMs and as a result of that, Elfin began trying to mitigate the damage by racing to talk to people before I could, based off a partial list I had given to Sako. Sako would also go out of his way to purposefully try to muddy the waters on his way out the door:



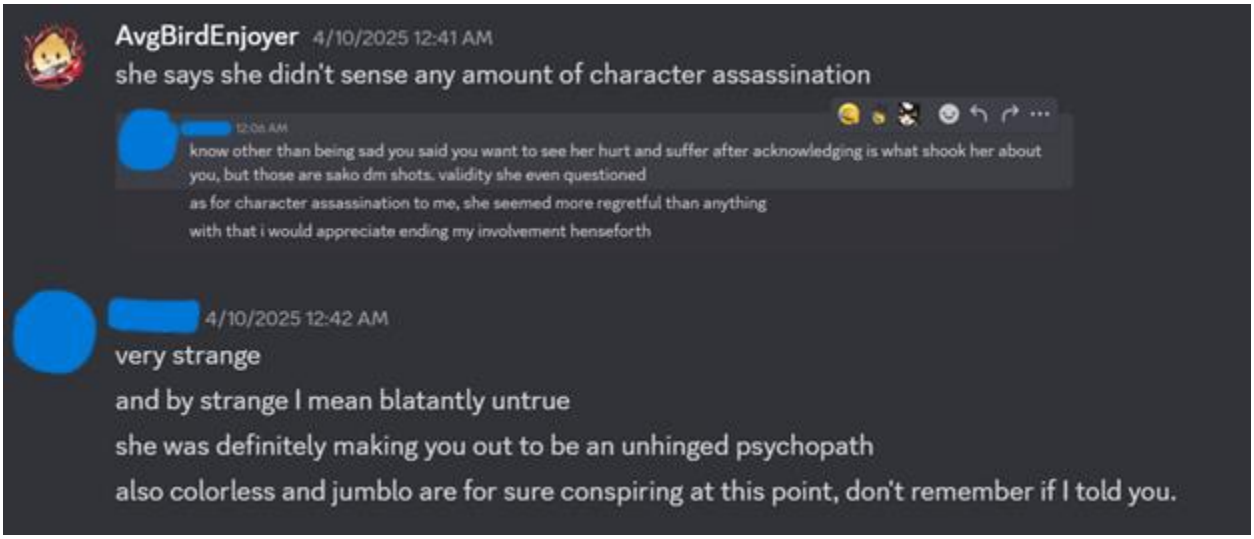
For example, Sako had sent Elfin's face unprompted to another server member, then would try to pin the blame on me. The person this was sent to tried being cheeky with their response, but it reads horribly. Sako would then send this to Elfin stating that I was the one who sent her face to this person. This is why people believe that I am going around sending people pics of Elfin.

This is not the case, I only ever traded images with Sako himself, at his request, "since we're going down this path anyway, wanna trade pics?" is how he phrased it. In doing so I would come to realize Elfin actually sends the same picture(s) to multiple people, which will be relevant later. Sako would go on to wipe his DMs with me, so I don't have the message to show.

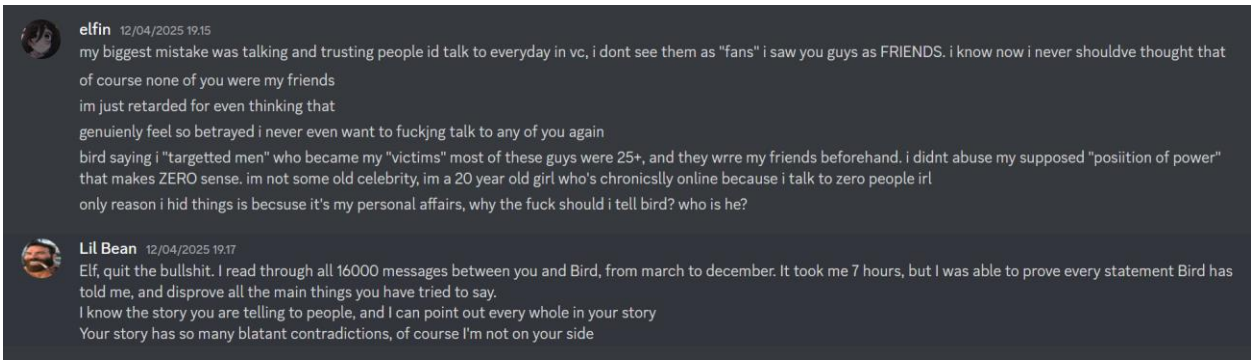
Even after this person clarified who was responsible to Elfin in DMs, this rumor is still circulating:

Which means that she is purposefully omitting information because it paints me in a worse light and better fits her narrative.

She is also telling different stories to different people, even third parties that attempted to mediate the situation, further obfuscating the truth:



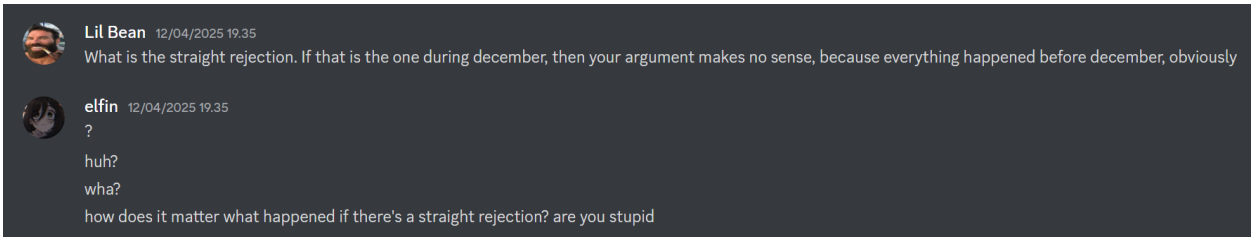
The most egregious sociopathic behavior can be seen in Bean's last conversation with Elfin, here are some highlights for brevity's sake:



Past the victimization of herself, notice her focus on age, and how she implies that since she isn't an "old celebrity" she can't abuse her position of power as a streamer, a logical fallacy.

One of the linchpins of her argument is that she had rejected me on multiple occasions, however, she consistently uses this singular example:

Notice how this is dated in December meaning that it does not excuse any of her behavior before December, that may seem obvious to you, but Elfin would go on to deny causality itself in this conversation:



Another instance where she uses the rejection in December to try to put blame on me for something that occurred in September:

A third instance where she uses the December rejection to justify something in September:

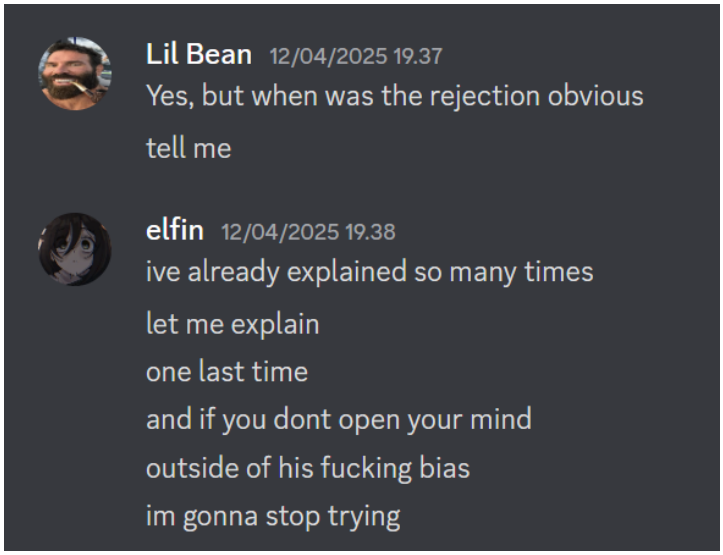
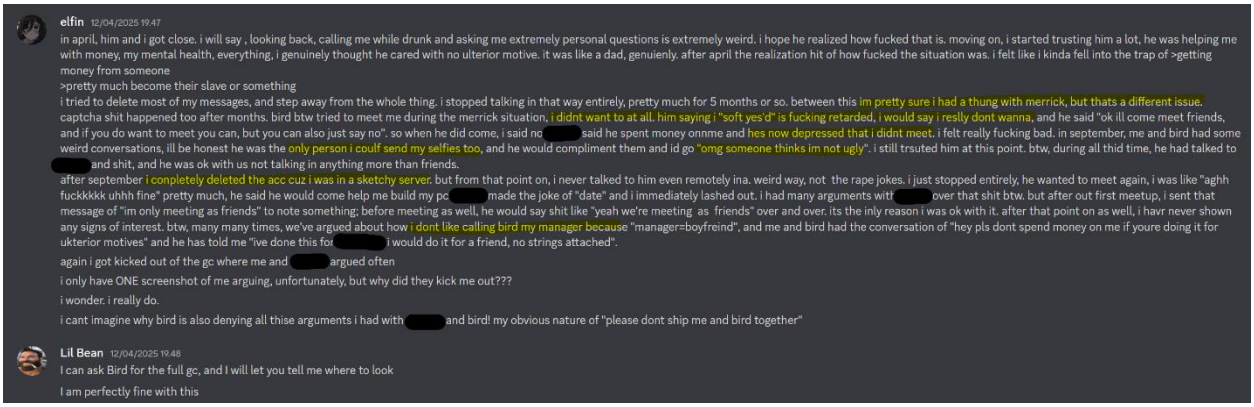
She sticks to that singular rejection in December because there is in fact, not multiple instances of rejection, she lied.



Bean presses her to answer the December conundrum once again, and she deflects with a summarization filled with lies that you can point out, assuming you read this document in full:



elfin 12/04/2025 19.47

in april, him and i got close. i will say , looking back, calling me while drunk and asking me extremely personal questions is extremely weird. i hope he realized how fucked that is. moving on, i started trusting him a lot, he was helping me with money, my mental health, everything, i genuinely thought he cared with no ulterior motive. it was like a dad, genuienly. after april the realization hit of how fucked the situation was. i felt like i kinda fell into the trap of >getting money from someone >pretty much become their slave or something i tried to delete most of my messages, and step away from the whole thing. i stopped talking in that way entirely, pretty much for 5 months or so. between this im pretty sure i had a thung with merrick, but thats a different issue. captcha shit happened too after months. bird btw tried to meet me during the merrick situation, i didnt want to at all. him saying i "soft yes'd" is fucking retarded, i would say i reslly dont wanna, and he said "ok ill come meet friends, and if you do want to meet you can, but you can also just say no". so when he did come, i said no [redacted] said he spent money onnme and hes now depressed that i didnt meet. i felt really fucking bad. in september, me and bird had some weird conversations, ill be honest he was the only person i coulf send my selfies too, and he would compliment them and id go "omg someone thinks im not ugly". i still trsuted him at this point. btw, during all thid time, he had talked to [redacted] and shit, and he was ok with us not talking in anything more than friends.

after september i conpletely deleted the acc cuz i was in a sketchy server. but from that point on, i never talked to him even remotely ina. weird way, not the rape jokes. i just stopped entirely, he wanted to meet again, i was like "aghh fuckkkkk uhhh fine" pretty much, he said he would come help me build my pc [redacted] made the joke of "date" and i immediately lashed out. i had many arguments with [redacted] over that shit btw. but after out first meetup, i sent that message of "im only meeting as friends" to note something; before meeting as well, he would say shit like "yeah we're meeting as friends" over and over. its the inly reason i was ok with it. after that point on as well, i havr never shown any signs of interest. btw, many many times, we've argued about how i dont like calling bird my manager because "manager=boyfreind", and me and bird had the conversation of "hey pls dont spend money on me if youre doing it for ukterior motives" and he has told me "ive done this for [redacted] i would do it for a friend, no strings attached".

again i got kicked out of the gc where me and [redacted] argued often i only have ONE screenshot of me arguing, unfortunately, but why did they kick me out???

i wonder. i really do.

i cant imagine why bird is also denying all thise arguments i had with [redacted] and bird! my obvious nature of "please dont ship me and bird together"

Lil Bean 12/04/2025 19.48

I can ask Bird for the full gc, and I will let you tell me where to look

I am perfectly fine with this

1. “I’m pretty sure I had a thing with Merrick, but that’s a different issue” is egregious phrasing
2. “I didn’t want to at all” when she literally said multiple times that she wanted to meet people
3. “he’s now depressed that I didn’t meet”, no, obviously I wasn’t upset about not meeting, I was upset because I had found out about the Merrick situation.
4. “Only person I could send my selfies to” is a lie, she sends the same pictures to multiple people, as I mentioned before. Not to mention that Shovel, Lauchlan, and Captcha all happened during September.
5. “Omg someone thinks I’m not ugly” is literally the exact same phrasing she used in her defense with Shovel, Lauchlan, and Captcha, seems like a common one in her playbook
6. “I completely deleted my acc cuz I was in a sketchy server” is a lie because she told Captcha in the Steam messages that she deleted it to have a clean slate with a new account
7. “I don’t like bird being my manager” is demonstrably false, she was perfectly fine with me taking the title but would later claim she was blackmailed by Otaku, her editor, in to making me her manager despite Otaku’s threat of quitting obviously being a joke:

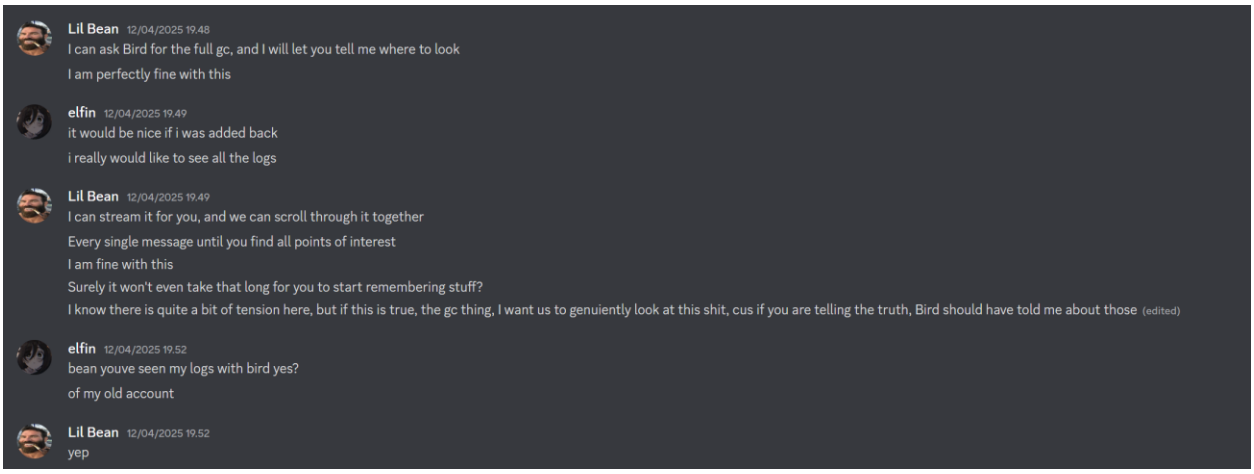
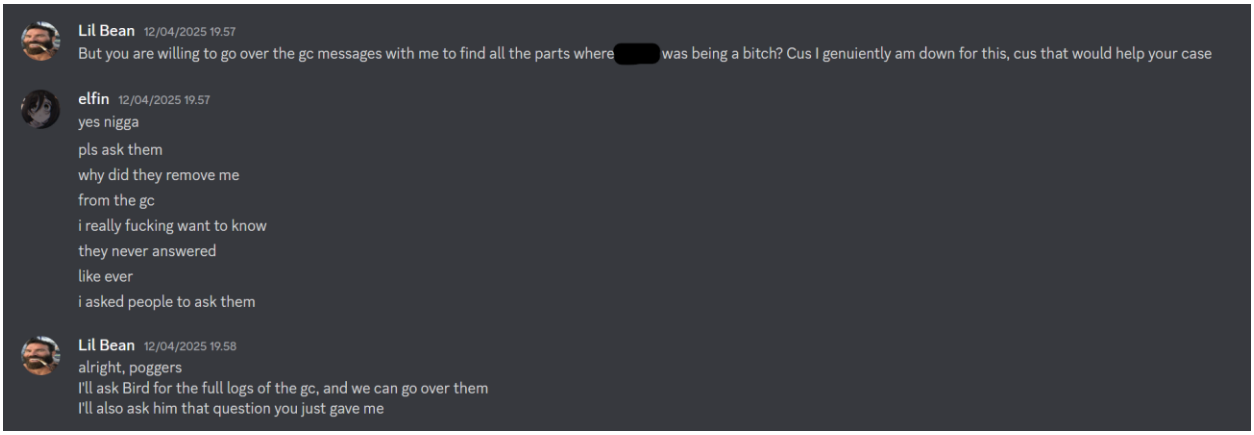
As I said before, the deflection of blame as well as the attempts at victimizing herself are consistently present.

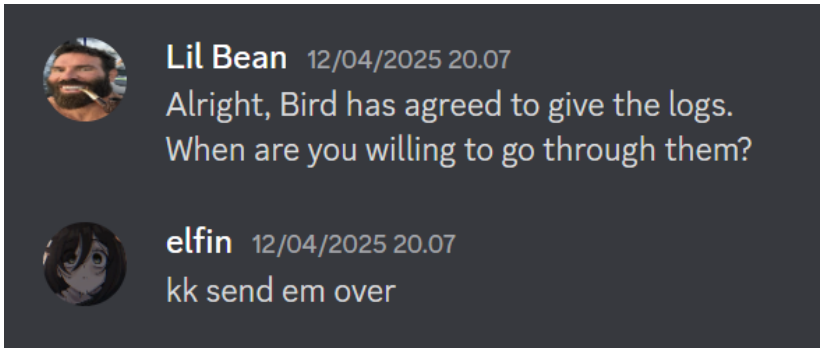


Here, Bean says that he can get the logs for the group chat from me to go through it with her. She immediately tries to get him to add her back to the group chat and/or share the logs, clear manipulation. Notice how she pivots topics after a 3-minute pause because Bean said that he would stream it, instead of just handing over the logs.

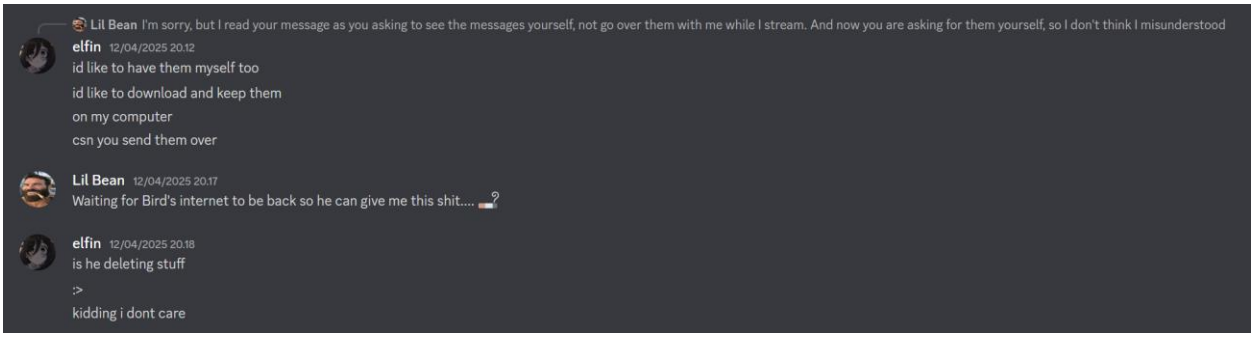


She then agrees to going through the logs with Bean streaming (just fyi, she never asked me why she got removed from the group chat, and no one else asked me either, until Bean).

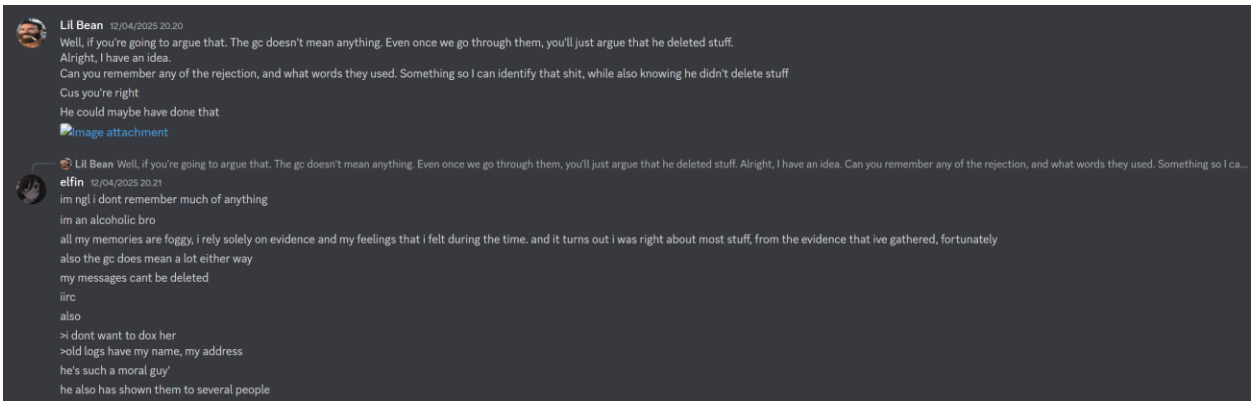
Then immediately tries to manipulate him in to sending her the logs again.



She'll go on to ask for the logs a third time, and also insinuate that I'm deleting messages, which is clearly projection, she obviously wants the logs so she can alter or otherwise cherry-pick messages of her own accord:

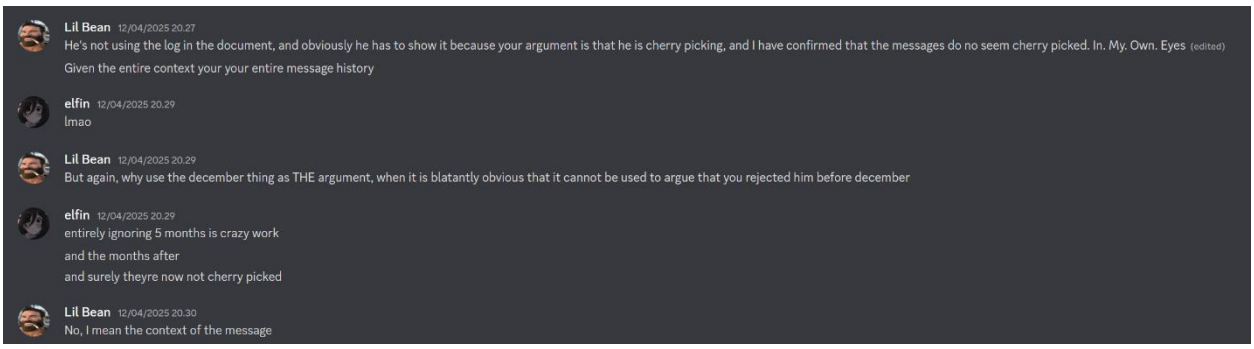


Bean states that since she made that bad faith argument, there's no point in going through the logs anyway, since she can just claim that whatever she was looking for was deleted. When he asked her if she could remember any specific words to search for, she said that she couldn't:

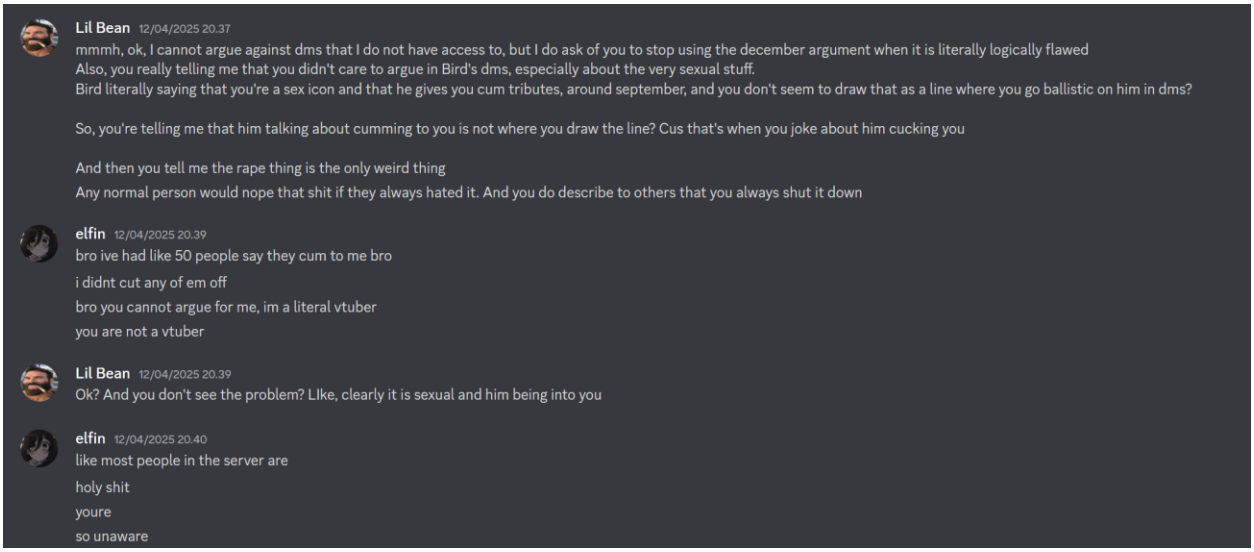


She also says "I rely solely on evidence and my feelings that I felt during the time" which is an oxymoronic statement, it literally does not make sense.

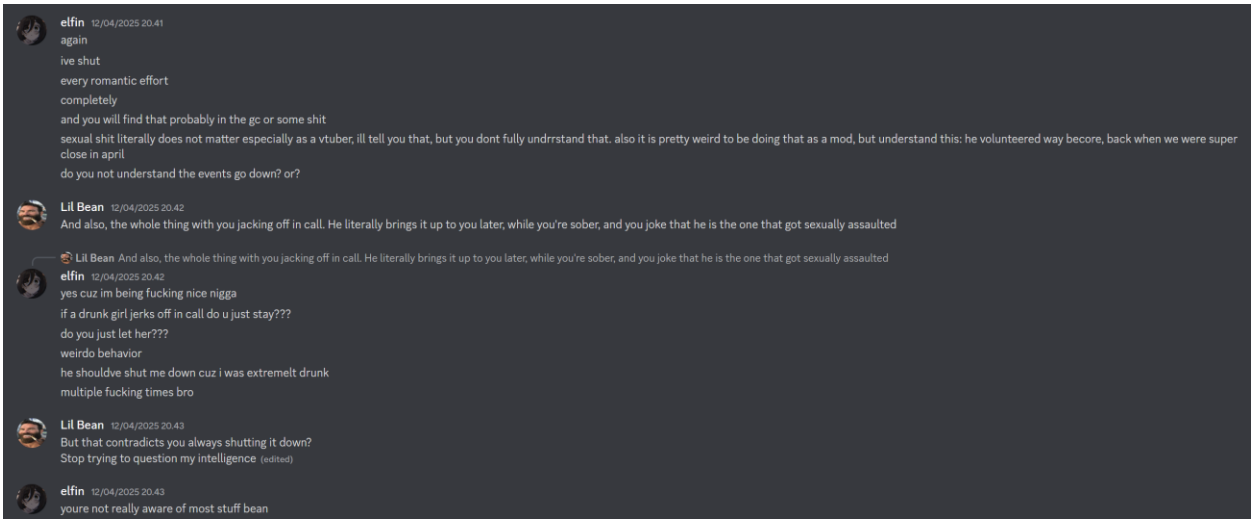
Notice how she walks it back, she wants to go through the group chat, she says that I can't delete her messages. And that last statement, the doxing information? There is no address in our DMs, there's only her first name, and I did not send it to "several" people, I sent it to 2, Bean is one of those and he will explain why it's literally her own fault that that was even necessary, she also dodges the December question again:



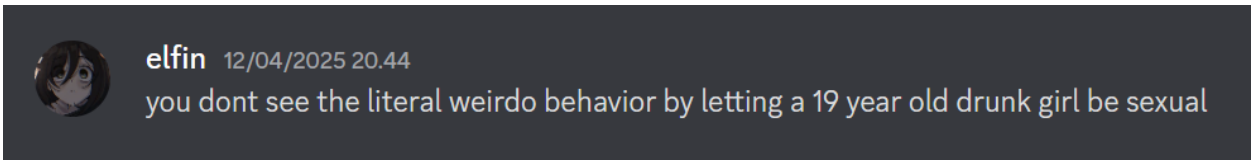
When Bean brings up how she never seemed to shutdown anything sexual, she deflects and actually makes herself look worse, notice how she says she's had 50 people say they cum to her, and that she didn't cut any of them off. She would then be Implying in this context that she was as close to those 50 people as me, not exactly a good look, considering we don't know how large the list of people actually is, I've only confirmed 6. She also claims that Bean cannot argue with her because he is not a vtuber, an obvious bad faith argument:



She then pivots her argument to differentiate between sexual and romantic efforts, which is just a diversion, a literal entire new can of worms based on what she defines as a "romantic" effort. She also lies about me volunteering to be a moderator, it was given to me to handle a very specific issue, I did not volunteer:



Another bad faith argument related to age:



There are more nuanced cases where she attempts to manipulate Bean or otherwise lie to try to save face, but I hope I've exemplified it enough.

Summary of Events

So, to make it more coherent, allow me to summarize the events in chronological order.

Sometime in September, Shovel, Lauchlan, and Captcha all come to realize that they've had similar experiences with Elfin where she would send them nudes and otherwise flirt with them.

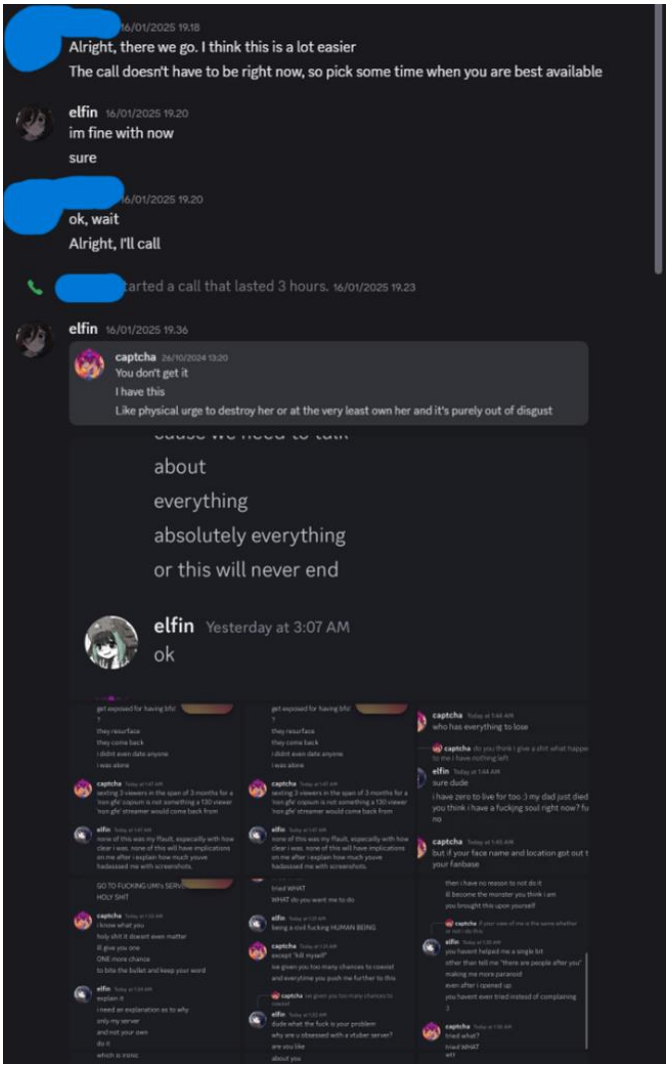
Captcha would then confront Elfin about it on September 25th, with Shovel and Lauchlan in call to cross reference what she was saying. She attempted to gaslight Captcha in to believing that it was all done under the influence of alcohol and that Lauchlan and Shovel knowingly tried to groom her.

She would then be added to the group chat and swap from attempting to gaslight Captcha to playing victim or otherwise attempting to accept blame. Notably, she admitted to continuing the inappropriate behavior while sober despite that being the main excuse she used before.

In the months following this, Captcha would be kicked from that group chat. He was banned in early October from the server. Between October and November 8th, Elfin managed to convince Shovel and Lauchlan to help her with the harassment she was receiving from Captcha, this is when Bean was brought in under false pretenses.

Bean assumed that Shovel and Lauchlan were both third parties, like him, who just happened to be helping Elfin deal with this issue. It will not be until early January that he would come to realize that Shovel, Lauchlan, Elfin, and Captcha were all directly related in terms of their entanglement with Elfin and each other.

Bean would confront Elfin about the truth of the situation on January 16th, where she seemed to have learned a lesson from the Captcha dox scare and understood the need for streamer/viewer distance (Bean is on a different account because they did not want Captcha noticing that they were suddenly friended):



Notably, Sako told me that the sexting started around mid-January indicating that she lied in some capacity or otherwise did not learn any lesson. The fact that she continued the behavior at all with Sako after January just means that she lied to Bean.

And before all of that, I was seemingly the first to be implicated in April going into May, which is when Merrick seemed to have started and that ended in June.

Closing Thoughts

When I found out the true nature of the situation, I realized it could no longer be handled privately, the cycle would continue almost certainly and someone is going to end up getting hurt, it is inevitable. There is no way to guarantee that she won't continue this behavior, she has shown previously that even in the wake of real tangible consequences, she will still continue. So, the only option is to make it public knowledge so you, her audience, can make an informed decision on how you wish to proceed with supporting and interacting with Elfinpsyop.

Again, Elfinpsyop is dating none of you, she wasn't dating any of us either, she is allowed to do what she wants privately. However, allowing her to continue to lie to people, to lie about people, to predate on her audience while being in her position as a streamer, would be immoral. She is quick to throw anyone under the bus when she no longer needs them, even those she was most fond of, people she supposedly trusted. She paints them in the worst light with slanderous accusations, assassinates their characters, accuses them of being groomers. It is egregious that she claims that people betrayed her trust when she's willing to blatantly lie shamelessly to escape even a wisp of potential consequence. I hope I managed to convey my perspective adequately, I hope that even if you don't agree, you can at least understand why this became necessary.
